CAIRO SUBURB ATTACKED

...Egypt Asserts 3 Civilians Killed

©The New York Times

Cairo — Israeli fighter-bombers attacked targets as close as six miles from the center of Cairo Wednesday. The Egyptian government asserted that three civilians were killed and 12 wounded.

Three buildings were destroyed by the bombs, according to the chief government spokesman, Dr. Ahmed Esmat Abdel Meguid, who held a news conference two hours after the aircraft raced eastward over Cairo toward home, pursued by bursts of antiaircraft fire.

Thousands of shoppers crowding the downtown area, stood in the streets trying to catch sight of the planes. Staccato bursts from machine guns and rapid fire puffs from exploding antiaircraft shells were visible in the distance.

After 25 minutes, the firing stopped and the crowds rushed back into stores for bargains in textiles, clothing and other goods on sale.

A communique issued by Cairo's military spokesman said four Israeli aircraft had attacked targets at Maadi, only six miles south of the center of Cairo, and at Dahshur, 18 miles to the south on the western bank of the Nile. Maadi is a suburban residential community of one-family villas, occupied largely by foreign diplomats and business representatives.

Planes Fly Low

Residents reported that the Israeli planes flew low over the suburb and disappeared in the direction of Cairo amid the noise of bursting bombs and antiaircraft fire.

The attack on Maadi was the closest to Cairo since the Israelis began striking near the capital three weeks ago.

The Israelis have struck twice at targets only a mile or so from Cairo's international airport, in the northeastern outskirts.

Reiterating earlier comments on the Israeli raids, Meguid said they were part of an "abortive attempt to undermine the morale of the Egyptian people."

Nixon Message Criticized

Meguid criticized a message by President Nixon to a Jewish conference earlier this week pledging more weapons assistance to Israel if necessary. But the spokesman's remarks were more restrained than comments in some other Arab countries.

He denied a report published last weekend that Egyptians had taken part in Libyan negotiations with France to purchase 100 Mirage aircraft.

Meguid rejected a suggestion that the Israeli planes were flying over Egypt with "impunity," declaring that they were being challenged by antiaircraft artillery.

Interception by jet fighters is difficult, he added, because "it takes only a minute or two for a jet fighter to fly from the Suez Canal to Cairo, and they don't stay long over the target."

Israeli Policy Not To Hit Industrial, Civilian Sites

©The New York Times

Tel Aviv — Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Wednesday neither Egyptian industrial targets nor civilian centers would be attacked in the current program of air raids on the Nile delta.

Speaking to the Foreign Press Association, Dayan indicated that these targets would be included if Egyptian leaders sought to attack Israeli civilian centers such as Tel Aviv.

He spoke a few hours after Israeli jets had completed their sixth raid in the Cairo area since the policy of deep aerial penetrations was initiated three weeks ago.

The Israeli jets attacked two army camps, according to a military spokesman.

Dayan said the deep attacks on Egypt were launched for military purposes, but that they also had other aims.

The first objective, he said, was a static one — to make it easier to hold the front line. He called it "a defensive objective, at least from the strategic point of view."

He said the attacks along the Suez Canal, which began last September, and the deeper raids were showing results in this field.

Casualties Cut

"Last July we had 106 casualties, including 30 dead, on the Egyptian front. Last month we had 30 casualties, including 12 dead."

A second objective, he said, was of somewhat longer range.

This was to make sure Egypt was in no position to launch any full-scale war. "They must realize that if they have neither superiority nor sovereignty of the air over Cairo, they are not in a position to start another all-out war."

Egypt Changes Tune

Dayan felt that here, too, the attacks were showing results. "What we hear of their public statements, from (Mohammed) Heikal," the editor of Al Ahram, "and President Nasser and others, they are talking now in terms of years instead of months."

The third objective was to bring the truth of the conduct of the war home to the Egyptian people. Dayan said, "We are saying, 'Now look here. Your leaders are not doing you any good'."

He said, "War is a two-sided business. Peace is two-sided and a cease-fire is two-sided, and when there are raids and attacks and firing, that has to be two-sided, too."

He said, however, that although Israel regards no part of Egypt as outside the target area, "we are limiting ourselves by not attacking any civilian targets."

Pressure From U.S.

Fielding newsmen's questions with ease, Dayan disclosed that Israel's military activities against Jordan were circumscribed by political considerations, indicating pressure from Washington.

Bus Drivers Set Deadline For Terms

Lincoln city bus drivers have established Feb. 3 as a deadline date for management to present its terms for a new labor contract, a union official reported Wednesday.

"That is the date set for them to come up with something," according to Leo Spitz, president of Local 1293 of the Amalgamated Transit Union.

Union members plan to meet that night to determine whether management's terms — if they are forthcoming — are acceptable, he said.

If they are not, Spitz said, the union must decide whether to call a strike against the Lincoln City Lines or resume negotiations.

"The question of a strike would not be considered until that night," he noted, "and we would certainly give the public more notice than that if we decide to go out."

Spitz said the union cannot determine how close to terms labor and management may be since "they've not made us an offer. I wish we knew exactly how we stand."

Bus drivers have been seeking wage increases and improvements in vacation arrangements and health and accident insurance benefits.

The labor contract expired last Sept. 15.

A management spokesman referred all questions to Ed Ries, a mediator for the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, but his Omaha office said Ries is in Florida and unavailable for comment this week.

Spitz also said Ries may be able to comment on further developments in the negotiating process.

Farm Sold To Pay Prowler Damages

Oskaloosa, Iowa (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Edward Briney of Eddyville saw their farm auctioned to a committee of friends for $10,001 to help pay damages to a man injured while prowling their home.

Marvin Katko, 30, of Eddyville was wounded in July 1967 by a "trap gun" set by the Brineys in a house on their property.

Katko, who was fined $50 after pleading guilty to larceny in the nighttime, won a $30,000 damage suit in Mahaska County District Court last Nov. 16.

The judgment has been appealed to the Iowa Supreme Court, and the committee said it would hold the 80-acre farm in trust for the Brineys.

Mahaska County Sheriff David Reese said the Brineys have a year in which to redeem their property regardless of the outcome of the appeal.

The sheriff conducted the auction.

Ben Janssen of rural Eddyville, chairman of the group of the Brineys' friends, said Mr. and Mrs. Briney will continue to have access to their land.

Planners Oppose Mobile Home Court Proposal

. . . DEVELOPERS EYEING SOUTHEAST RESIDENTIAL AREA

A proposal for locating a mobile home court on land zoned for single-family use in southeast Lincoln Wednesday failed to win the support of the City-County Planning Commission.

Planning commissioners voted 5-2 against the proposal for locating the court on 67 acres located south of Old Cheney Rd. between 48th and 51st Sts. The land is zoned A-1 Single Family.

Opposition Voiced

But area residents last week voiced opposition to permitting a mobile home court in the area.

And the majority of the planning commissioners Wednesday agreed with opponents that the mobile home court would not be compatible with the development of conventional housing in the general area.

"Consideration must be given for the adjoining area," Commissioner Steve Cook said.

Location Important

Commission Chairman Ed Perry said that "just because it meets the zoning ordinance requirements does not mean that a special permit must be approved." He said that location is also an important consideration.

The City Council must still act on the proposal.

The proposed court would be the first one to be located in a single-family area under the city's new mobile home ordinance. The zoning ordinance permits mobile home courts in all residential zoning districts.

Planning commission members, had recommended to the council that courts not be allowed in A-1 Single Family districts. The council, however, decided to permit mobile home courts in A-1 districts.

Approval Urged

Commissioners also recommended approval of an amendment to county zoning regulations which would permit dog breeding and kennels, chinchilla farms, stables and riding academies. Presently, those uses are not enumerated as permitted uses in AA Rural and Public Use districts.

Jerome Vance, who requested the amendment, proposes to build a kennel near Hwy. 77 slightly more than three miles north of the city limits.

The planning commission also

Nixon Wins Budget Skirmish On Veto

Washington (AP) — President Nixon won his budget battle with Congress Wednesday when House Democrats failed to override his veto of a $19.7 billion health and education money bill.

The White House promptly let it be known that it would be willing to accept increases totaling $448 million over Nixon's budget request in place of the $1.2 billion added by Congress in the vetoed bill.

The 226-191 vote in favor of overriding the veto was 52 votes short of the two-thirds majority needed, far more than even Republican leaders had forecast. The result was final, with no Senate action needed.

Nixon Supported

Nixon's position that the bill was inflationary was supported by 156 Republicans and 35 Democrats. Only 27 Republicans voted to override, along with 199 Democrats. Last month 86 Republicans voted for the increased spending despited a warning the bill would be vetoed.

The action left Congress with the task of acting quickly on a substitute bill to provide funds for the Departments of Labor and of Health, Education, and Welfare for the current fiscal year, which has only five months to run.

At the White House, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was very pleased at the support he received.

To demonstrate his gratitude to the 191 members who voted to uphold his veto, Nixon invited them to the White House so he could express his appreciation in person.

Solution Proposed

In order to forestall another attempt by the Democratic majority to beef up the bill beyond Nixon's budget, Republican leaders proposed a simple solution: leave the money figures as they are and add language saying Nixon doesn't have to spend any more than he wants to.

The idea, suggested by Nixon himself in his veto message, found support among some Democrats, including Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that will have to bring out another bill.

One of Nixon's major arguments in his veto message was that formulas fixed in the education aid laws require him to spend the money. Previous administrations have held that Congress cannot compel the executive branch to spend money and other presidents have frequently impounded funds appropriated by Congress.

Key Is Understanding

The key to acceptance of any plan to give Nixon discretion over spending levels would be a firm understanding by the members of just what he would be willing to spend.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., a House leader on education matters, sought to bring such an understanding before the House when he produced a letter from HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch promising increases in several programs.

The only figure mentioned by Finch was $440 million for the impacted areas program, an increase of $238 million over Nixon's budget. The program, harshly criticized by Nixon in his veto message, provides money for school districts with large numbers of children of federal employes. The money goes into 385 congressional districts.

Promise Said 'Cynical'

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert, noting Nixon's criticism of the program, said the White House promise to more than double the money for it was "cynical and double-dealing."

"Is the President against impacted aid or is he willing to trade for votes with it?" asked Albert.

Although the figures were not mentioned in Finch's letter, Quie said the White House also will approve spending an additional $70 million for vocational education and a total of $140 million more for several other programs.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said in a statement: "The President has won a personal and temporary victory, but he gained it at the long-term expense of America's children and the sick and the needy of this country."

Charles Lee, who headed a massive lobbying effort on behalf of scores of education organizations backing the extra funds, said the fight will not be abandoned.

Session Won't Be Called For Redistricting

Papillion (AP) — Sarpy County Attorney Dixon Adams said Wednesday Gov. Norbert Tiemann has informed him a special session of the Nebraska Legislature won't be called to redistrict for a second senator from Sarpy County.

Adams said Tiemann's reply, in a letter, was in response to a request for the session two weeks ago by Sarpy County officials.

Tiemann's letter cited an attorney general's opinion that any redistricting would have to be for the entire state, Adams said.

Such a redistricting is required every ten years after the federal census, which is beginning now.

Fund For Injured Gridder Tops $2,000

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Lawrence — A fund campaign for Bud Schroer, a Lawrence High School senior who was severely injured during football season, has surpassed the $2,000 mark.

Principal Elmer Bonsack said the money will be used to start an account — hopefully to grow from other contributions — at the Lawrence State Bank. A check will be presented to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schroer, at a school convocation Friday.

A benefit "Bud Schroer Night" recently climaxed a campaign of several weeks by the senior class. Town merchants also participated by donating merchandise used for prizes.

Now in Lincoln Orthopedic Hospital, young Schroer is undergoing treatment for a crushed vertebra. Previously bedfast, he was moved to a wheelchair this week to resume his education at the hospital.

U.S.-Trained Thai Troops Evidently Fighting In Laos

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN

Bangkok, Thailand (AP) — Some American-trained Thai troops evidently are fighting in neighboring Laos against the Communist-led Pathet Lao.

Reports from a variety of sources indicate there can be anywhere from several hundred to several thousand Thai volunteers in the Indochina kingdom.

Lao officials publicly deny that any are there, but privately admit to some. Moscow radio has pictured 5,000 Thai soldiers as fighting for the royal Lao government.

No Regulars Said There

Officials in Bangkok deny publicly that any regular Thai troops are in Laos, but say some may be there as mercenary volunteers.

"We don't have any Thai regular troops there," said a senior Thai official, "but we can't stop our people from volunteering, can we? After all, Americans are volunteering to fight in Israel."

One Bangkok source says the volunteers are recruited through 2nd Army region headquarters at Korat in the uneasy northeast. Volunteers come from the army, the source said, but must resign from it before joining up.

10 Million Mixture

Laos has a population of only two million, but there are 10 million people in the border region in Thailand who are a mixture of Thai and Lao, who speak Lao, look like Laotians and share their customs.

Thailand always has regarded its 1,000-mile border with Laos as the softest spot in its defenses and the United States has supported this view with guns and money in recent years.

World News

At various times Thailand has claimed a large part of Laos as its own. Recently a threat from North Vietnam has impelled Bangkok to take a more active interest in the northeast area.

Sources in Bangkok say the Thai volunteers are trained by U.S. Special Forces as the core of hard-hitting guerrilla units known in Laos as SGUs. Some are said to be blended in with regular Lao units to bolster poorly trained Lao troops. Others, called "Red Berets," are said to work with U.S. Green Berets or Special Forces in southern Laos.

Secret Unit

These reports say the volunteers are equipped and supplied by Americans through the office of the deputy chief of the Joint U.S. Military Assistance Group (JUSMAG), a secret unit commanded by Army Col. P. T. Russell. It operates from a Bangkok hotel, rather than from nearby JUSMAG headquarters.

Inquiries about the office, shown on U.S. staff directories as completely independent of the command, are referred to the press attache at the U.S. Embassy.

There, inquiries bring the official response that "there will be no comment on the mission of deputy chief JUSMAG—Thai; neither are the authorized nor the assigned strength releasable."

Among the responsibilities of Russell's office is the flow of arms and ammunition into Laos, routed by way of a secret air base at Con Chien on the edge of Laos' Plain of Jars.

Pay Up To $250 Monthly

The reports say Thai volunteers in Laos are paid up to $250 monthly from American funds. This compares with $5 monthly for a regular Thai private. The family of any man killed is reported to get compensation as high as $10,000 depending upon rank.

U.S. military aid to Thailand began in 1953 when Ho Chi Minh's Vietminh forces invaded Laos. Since then the U.S. military advisory group has expanded its operation many times.

In May 1962, amid signs of growing Communist strength in Laos, President John F. Kennedy temporarily sent a 5,000-man task force to Thailand's northeast provinces. Since 1965, U.S. planes have been flying bombing missions over Laos, raising questions about the depth of American involvement there.

Top Draft Post Offered

Washington (AP) — The White House said Wednesday that Charles DiBona, 38, a naval analysis expert in private business, has been offered the post of Selective Service director.

But a final decision, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters, has not been reached.

Senate sources reported earlier in the day he had been chosen.

Ziegler said the matter still is under discussion.

He would step into a post, if the appointment goes through, which retiring Gen. Lewis B. Hershey has held since World War II. Hershey is stepping down Feb. 16.

DiBona already has discussed the appointment with the senior members of the Senate Armed Services Committee, which would consider his nomination by President Nixon.

He met on Monday with Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., the chairman, and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, the ranking Republican member.

DiBona now is president of the Center for Naval Analyses in nearby Rosslyn, Va., an organization which performs operations researnh and systems analysis for the Navy. The center is affiliated with the University of Rochester.

Senate OKs Strong Drug Control Bill

Washington (AP) — The Senate Wednesday overwhelmingly approved a comprehensive drug control bill after defeating attempts to change its dominant law enforcement character.

Final passage came on an 82-0 roll call vote moments after the Senate rejected a bid to reduce federal penalties for persons convicted on a second or subsequent charge of possessing marijuana.

Earlier attempts to place more stress on the scientific and medical aspects of drug addiction were beaten back by supporters of the police-oriented bill.

The Senate defeated, on a 58-24 roll call vote, an amendment which would have cut by half the severity of prison sentences for the second and subsequent convictions for possession and distribution of marijuana.

It rejected, on a 56-32 roll call vote, a bid to allow the secretary of health, education and welfare, not the attorney general, to have the prime role in naming members of a new marijuana research commission.

Attempt Loses

And it turned back, 44 to 39, an attempt to give HEW scientists a stronger voice in determining which drugs should be classified as dangerous under schedules which outline control procedures and penalties for use and distribution.

The amendments were framed by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, who in two days of speeches has insisted that HEW should be given the foremost responsibility and authority for conducting drug-related research and weighing the scientific and medical problems of drug abuse.

Sens. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and Roman Hruska, R-Neb., both members of the Judiciary Committee which wrote the 100-page control bill, contended that the bill gives both HEW and the Justice Department a voice in drug abuse control.

Hruska said the Hughes amendments would "discard" the attorney general from what was intended as a law enforcement bill, a move that he said represented a "strange and alien philosophy."

"The Justice Department doesn't want this approach," Dodd declared. "The secretary of HEW doesn't want it. Nobody wants it."

Dodd contended that both law enforcement and medical science are adequately balanced by the bill and that placing all authority in one or the other would "preclude objectivity and result in one-sided findings."

But Hughes said he believes the bill is already much too heavily weighted in favor of law enforcement.

The administration-backed bill already contains penalties for certain drug abuses less severe than existing law.

For the first time it would allow a judge the option of placing first and second offenders on probation. Some Senate observers say this marks a realization that drugs are infiltrating middle class neighborhoods and suburbs where they are used by normally law abiding persons.

But it sharply differentiates between these relatively casual users and the criminals who profit from the drug traffic.

For these offenders prison sentences would be long, fines high, and probation denied.

Major Provisions Of Bill

Washington (AP) — Here are major provisions of the drug control bill passed by the Senate Wednesday:

—Mandatory minimum penalties would be abolished for all except one class of persons convicted of federal drug violations.

—The bill prescribes severe penalties — ranging to life imprisonment and a $100,000 fine — for "professional criminals" convicted of largescale narcotic violations.

—Federal magistrates would be authorized to issue "no-knock" search warrants to agents who can show that evidence is likely to be destroyed if they knock before entering a suspected place.

—A commission would be set up, its members appointed by the attorney general on the recommendation of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to study the effects and nature of marijuana.

—The bill provides for semi-flexible control schedules regulating the import, manufacture and distribution of specified drugs, narcotics and dangerous substances.

—Manufacturers of prescription drugs deemed subject to abuse would be required to keep strict records.

Foreign Aid Bill 'Dictated' —Fulbright

Washington (UPI) — The Senate gave unanimous approval Wednesday to a $1.86 billion foreign aid appropriations bill which Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said was "practically dictated by various special interest groups."

The voice vote by the Senate sent the bill to the White House for President Nixon's signature eight months after it was introduced and nearly a billion dollars under what he originally requested.

The Senate had previously stripped the bill of its sharpest controversy — a House proposal for adding $54.5 million to buy a squadron of Phantom jet fighters for Nationalist China. But it still contained another controversial clause, earmarking $50 million in military aid funds for South Korea.

Fulbright said both amendments, plus other smaller amounts for a desalting plant and various educational institutions in Israel, represented the work of "lobbyists for special interests and foreign governments."

"We no longer have a U.S. foreign policy, we have a collection of 'foreign' foreign policies," he complained.

He added that he objected to the Korean funds even though he recognized that the provision does not mean extra money for Korea because it was already scheduled to receive three times that amount in military aid under the bill.

The bill provides just over $1.5 billion in economic aid programs and $350 million in military assistance.

The President originally asked $2.2 billion in economic aid and $475 million in military assistance.

Ammo Plant Hit By Strike

. . . Higgins Accused Of Intimidation

Grand Island (AP) — The chief union negotiator charged the plant manager with intimidation Wednesday afternoon as a strike continued at the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Plant.

E. F. (Bill) Noble, chairman of the negotiating committee for nine contracting unions, made the accusation against J. M. Higgins, plant manager for Mason and Hanger-Silas Mason, Inc., operator of the plant.

Pickets appeared at the plant gates at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday. By mid-morning, only 350 of the 1,300 workers were on the job.

Wednesday evening, Higgins reported a showup by 219 of the 575 workers scheduled for the 4 p.m. shift.

As chairman of the negotiating committee for the nine striking craft unions, Noble said he was obligated "to speak out against what I consider an attempt by Mr. Higgins to intimidate other employes at the plant in the exercise of their individual rights and principles" to honor picket lines.

Contacting Union

Higgins had said plant officials were contacting officials of the International Chemical Workers Union local, whose contract has not expired, to ask their help in getting members back to work.

Higgins said earlier that management had made a proposal to the unions involved. He said management was advised by the unions that 657 employes would have to vote on the proposal.

Noble declined to comment on the status of the negotiations.

Autopsy Ordered For Mrs Duffy; Struck By Auto

Omaha (AP) — An autopsy was to be performed on Mrs. Necelia Duffy, 60, Omaha, who died nearly two weeks after she was hit by a car in a pedestrian accident Jan. 13.

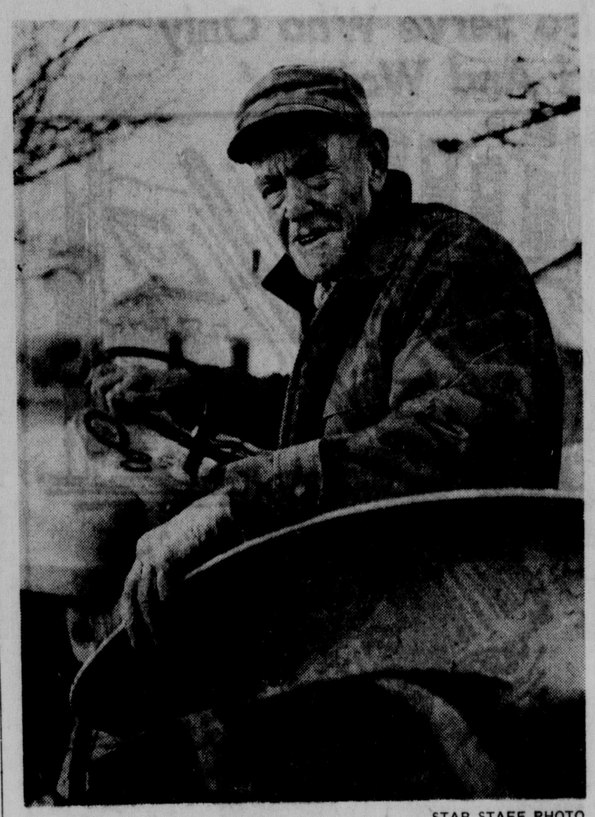

Omaha police reported that the woman died in a hospital Monday.

Acting Douglas County Coroner George Sullivan said the autopsy would be to determine if the woman's death was a result of the accident, which occurred at Fort and 30th streets.

The driver of the car, 16-year-old Katherine A. Foltz of Omaha, was ticketed by police on a charge of failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian. Mrs. Duffy was in a crosswalk when the accident occurred, police said.

Superior — After 82 years on the same farm, William Saul isn't about to leave — sale or no sale.

Now that his table-flat 150 acres have been auctioned, home will be a small cottage on the 12 acres he retained "just to play with." And where, "just for the fun of it," he'll continue to raise a few hogs and cattle.

"By now I've gotten kind of used to the farm, so I wouldn't like that town stuff," quipped the oldster, 85. "Why, I'd be lost without a pig around the place."

Still straight as a fence post, Saul also saved back a tractor and several bits of machinery to bide his time. With a Scotch-Irish wink, he confirmed that he has never married — "well, not yet!"

The hired hand's cottage he took over is within hollering distance of the large home which his father, John, built after moving from Illinois. Its surrounding fields — bought for $25 an acre in 1888 — had been great for the scampering of six young Sauls.

$520 An Acre

"The place brought me $520 an acre, but it should have been $600 in these times," said the alert Nuckolls countian. "We were irrigating it even before the Bostwick ditch was run by, and I claim it's one of the best farms in the whole Republican valley."

Saul's one stint away from the farm, which is three miles east of Superior, came during his youth. Expressly to have his brood closer to high school, the father bought an acreage at the edge of Superior.

A niece, Mrs. Miriam Peterson of Superior, provides the oldster transportation since he failed his driver's license examination. He passed the written portion 100%, but "kind of got my feet mixed up when they made me drive."

Saul's love for his bit of land, incidentally, can't be because he's never stepped beyond it. He's taken guided tours to Canada, Mexico, all over this country and "even across the pond." He has wintered a dozen times in California.

"I'm hoping to see Hawaii the next time out," he said. "But whenever I'm home it will be right here. I plan to stay on this old farm just as long as I can wiggle."

Youth Facing Assault Count In 2 Beatings

Holdrege (AP) — A 16-year-old Holdrege youth was arraigned Wednesday on two counts of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury in the hammer beating of his aunt and a cousin.

County Judge G. Vern Thorell set bond of $5,000 and appointed attorney William Sherwood of Oxford to represent the youth, Paul Roberts.

Roberts' aunt, Mrs. Joel Thibodeau, was reported in serious condition in a hospital with multiple head injuries. Her 16-year-old daughter, Marcy, was transferred to a Kearney hospital for treatment of multiple lacerations on the scalp, nose and left eye.

Phelps County Attorney Clark Noble said the youth was arrested in a Holdrege City Park about five blocks from the home shortly before midnight Tuesday.

Noble said Mrs. Thibodeau told him Roberts beat her repeatedly on the head with a hammer and her daughter was struck at least twice.

Credit Card Bill Seen As Curb For Inflation

Nebraska News

Washington (AP) — Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., told Congress Wednesday that his bill to restrict unsolicited mailing of credit cards not only would protect the public but would help curb inflation.

Cunningham said that merchants who are forced by competition to join credit card plans must raise their prices from 3 to 7% in oredr to pay the credit card company for discounting debts run up in his store.

"The merchant is not guaranteed any exclusive territory," Cunningham told the House postal operations subcommittee, "so he finds himself raising prices without any competitive advantage.

"This fear psychology wouldn't be possible without the mass mailing technique which the banks and other credit card issuers want to make use of in selling their plan."

Big Yearly Loss

Also, Cunningham said, there is a loss of about $100 million a year in uncollectable credit card debts.

Cunningham's bill would require that credit cards be sent only by registered or insured mail and restricted in delivery to the addressee only.

Also testifying before the committee in favor of restricted mailing of unsolicited credit cards was Rep. Arnold Olsen, D-Mont., author of a bill similar to Cunningham's.

He said credit cards add to inflation because of the 18% interest charged on credit card debt over 30 days old.

Also, "the 3 to 7% added to the merchant's costs of doing business in discounted debt can only have an inflationary effect," he added.

Charges Filed Against Saxon; Bond At $35,000

Omaha (AP) — Larry E. Saxon, 23, has been charged in connection with the incident that ended in the shooting death of his companion and the wounding of a police officer.

Saxon, described by authorities as an unemployed high school dropout, was charged with kidnaping, robbery, assault with intent to kill, wound or maim, and having a gun in his possession while committing a felony.

Municipal Judge D. B. Anderson set bond at $35,000 and Saxon was held in the Douglas County jail.

The shooting occurred outside an apartment where Saxon lived with George Allen Woods III, 17-year-old high school dropout who was killed in an exchange of shots with police.

Detective Sgt. Jerald S. Voleck Jr. was wounded in the head. He was reported in satisfactory condition at a hospital.

$500,000 Mail Processing Plant Slated At Blair

Blair (AP) — The D. L. Blair Corp., a New York City sales promotion firm, will build a $500,000 mail processing plant in Blair, a company official said.

James Barnhart, who will manage the plant, said construction will begin in 60 to 90 days and there will be about 100 employes when the plant is in operation in about a year.

The company conducts contests, coupon offers and promotion campaigns for other firms.

Barnhart said the plant probably will handle close to five million pieces of mail annually. The plant will handle mailing of coupons and contest blanks and notification of winners.

Ex-Boys Town Mayor Charged In Murder Case

East Grand Forks, Minn. (AP) — A young man charged with first degree murder here Wednesday is a veteran of the Vietnam War who was cited for gallantry, authorities said.

He was identified as Daniel L. Riely, 23, Grand Forks, N.D., who is charged with the slaying of a Fargo, N.D., cab driver.

Found dead near his vehicle along U.S. 8 about half a mile north of East Grand Forks early Wednesday was Joseph W. Gladue, 54, who'd been driving a cab two months.

Officers said Riely was a Marine sergeant with the Fifth Marines in Vietnam. He received the Silver Star, nation's third highest award for gallantry, for action in May, 1967. He also held the Bronze Star for valor, as well as the Gallantry Cross with Bronze Star from South Vietnam.

Riely is a former mayor of Boys Town, Neb., the haven for youths without a suitable home.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Our friends out on The York Daily News-Times are on the prowl—looking for a candidate to run against Wayne Schreurs of Seward for the Legislature. It's not that they have anything against Schreurs, a gubernatorial appointment midway through the 1969 session, but he isn't from York County, nor, in their mind, is he outstanding.

They are right on both counts. Certainly, there can be no argument that Schreurs is not from York County. If only all arguments were as easily determined as that, it would be a pretty simple place in which we live.

As to the abilities of Senator Schreurs, he is not considered outstanding. It is believed that he never will be outstanding. On the other hand, he will probably improve as time goes on because it takes time to get your feet on the ground in the Legislature.

As someone said of the Legislature and anyone starting his freshman term—you have to learn first where the bathroom is. Schreurs has a constructive voting record and is considered alert to the needs of his district but that is not all it takes to be an outstanding senator.

If York County can come up with an outstanding man, more power to it. Certainly, the Legislature can use any outstanding people it can get. No reflection is intended here upon anyone but the responsibilities of public office are becoming heavier and more complex, demanding a constantly higher quality person.

As to geography, you can't argue much there, either, with the York Times. If you think sometimes that you haven't much voice in the affairs of government, look at some areas of Nebraska such as York and Seward counties.

Here are two good sized counties and they have one representative between them in the Unicameral. Lancaster County gets to feeling abused now and then and it has six senators to look after its interests. It shares only one of them very slightly with anyone else.

So the York Times has a point. If things are going to be even, it is York's turn to have the state senator. Only trouble is, things don't work that cozy. There is no way for York to automatically get a senator.

Someone from York County has to file for the office and win the election, has to beat the incumbent Schreurs, if the idea of taking turns is to take hold. There is probably nowhere else in the United States in this off election year in which taking turns might be a major issue.

But the idea is not unique. Omaha thinks it is always entitled to a U.S. senator and the chief judgeship of the Nebraska federal district court system.

And if you think local interests mean nothing elsewhere, take a look at the controversy being engendered by efforts to explain and implement the recently passed LB1357, a measure to consolidate nearly 100 existing conservation agencies into 25 closely knit units.

The plan, a sound one in principle, is being bandied about on two counts. One, it diffuses local control and two, it upsets existing tax situations.

York County, for instance, finds itself in the preliminary arrangement of the 25 districts in a conglomerate including all or part of eight counties. If York manages a tiff with Seward over representation between the two, think what could happen among eight counties on a subject so vital as natural resources.

Here in Lancaster County, the Salt Valley Watershed Association has done a commendable job, having made tremendous progress in water resources conservation and control. Under the 25 district plan, Lancaster would be thrown in with Saunders County which hasn't done nearly as much work.

So, Lancaster residents, having paid for their progress, would be called upon to continue to pay so Saunders could reach the same point of achievement. The 25 district plan remains a good concept and hopefully it can be worked out but it has a lot of long standing and natural animosities to overcome.

'They Also Serve Who Only Stand And Wait...'

All For Grand Island

Considerable discussion is heard these days about the location of the new state training center for police officers at a former military installation in Grand Island. Sen. Terry Carpenter complicated the matter when he said that political considerations promoted the governor to choose the third city location over Omaha.

Additionally, Carpenter charged that the site advisory council simply did the governor's bidding in its recommendation of Grand Island. Our own personal opinion is that little politics was involved and that the right decision was made.

Lincoln and Beatrice, as well as Omaha and Grand Island, were in contention for the training center. Any one of them might well have made an adequate location. But in Lincoln or Omaha, the center would have been dominated by metropolitan law enforcement officials, a situation that would make no contribution to harmony in the development.

Additionally, neither Lincoln nor Omaha need the center as badly as do most other areas of the state from a law enforcement training point of view. Both cities intend to continue their own training programs, as well as whatever use they make of the center.

Finally, Grand Island is more centrally located than any of the cities under consideration. Add this to the fact that somebody other than Lincoln and Omaha are entitled to something now and then and the Grand Island selection comes out looking pretty good. We don't see how a better selection than Grand Island could have been made for the center.

The Senate Race

Professors have not fared really well in Nebraska politics in the years since Val Peterson won three consecutive elections for the governorship starting in 1946.

It might be the image of the academician that hasn't appealed to Nebraska voters. Or perhaps it is because those few educators who have tried have spoken above the heads of our electorate, or maybe the voters just didn't like their message.

Whatever the reasons, we admire the courage of Wallace C. Peterson, chairman of the University of Nebraska economics department, who Saturday will announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate. If he wins the nomination, and right now it appears unlikely that the Democratic primary will be anything resembling a dog fight, he will be a substantial candidate to challenge Roman Hruska, an incumbent U.S. Senator who just happens to be from this state — although indications of late amount to the feeling that he might have gotten too big for it.

Hruska first won election to the Senate in 1954 against James F. Green, to replace a short-term appointee. He won re-election in 1958 in a contest with Frank Morrison, who would become governor in 1960. Hruska won a third term in 1964 in an easy campaign against Democrat Raymond Arndt from Columbus. A test of Sen. Hruska's ability to represent Nebraska is in order this time around.

There is no way of knowing how the Peterson campaign will unfold. We know, however, that there is need for a candidate who can understand problems and interests of the nation as a whole, as well as those of special concern to Nebraska and one who will cite the issues salient to Nebraska, the United States and the world in the seventies. There comes a time when seniority and old friendships in the Senate become valueless.

Defending Rights

Toronto, Ont. Canada

I was ordered to report for induction into the U.S. military service on May 12, 1969. Through delays in red tape, this date was successively postponed until after I had entered Canada, about the end of August. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police have informed me that a warrant has been issued by the U.S. for my arrest.

Though I made my position clear in a statement of conscientious objection filed with my local board in Chadron, Nebraska, I consider it appropriate to make my reasons for leaving the United States clear and public.

It seems strange to find the U.S.A., the traditional epitome of freedom, in the role of persecutor of political criminals. The Declaration of Independence clearly asserts the rights to life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, all of which are violated by the draft. Further, the Declaration holds it to be self-evident that these rights are inalienable. That is, they are not to be abrogated by majority vote, political crisis, or any other means whatsoever.

Unfortunately, the Declaration of Independence does not have the status of constitutional law, and the Constitution itself is not so clearly worded. Even so, and despite the Supreme Court, at least two clauses in the Constitution clearly proscribe conscription. These are the Eighth Amendment, prohibiting cruel and unusual punishment (especially when no crime has been committed), and the Thirteenth Amendment, prohibiting involuntary servitude.

But laws change and constitutions can be amended. My argument against the draft rests on absolute principles, which, by definition, are not subject to arbitrary alteration. For the sake of brevity, the following derivation will be very sketchy. The full details will be found outlined in admirable clarity in the works of Ayn Rand, who has extensively studied the philosophy of man, and its social, political and economic implications — including, specifically, laissez-faire capitalism.

The fundamental characteristic of man is that he must survive by means of reason; since life is his ultimate value, he has a clear right to attack the problems of reality with his own mind and to reap the rewards. An immediate consequence is that man has a right to his own life.

The fundamental law of civilized society is: No man, nor group of men, including governments, may initiate the use of physical force against others. Retaliation is the only proper use of force.

I assert that I have an absolute right to my own life. The United States has claimed my life as its own to control at will. I assert that I have an absolute right to be free of physical force. The United States has stated that I will be subject to physical coercion within its jurisdiction if I do not recognize its claim on my life.

I have come to Canada to live.

Girls In Slacks

Lincoln, Neb.

I read the article about the Tulsa, Oklahoma, girl, Cindy Pitchford, 13, whose home had burned, destroying all her clothes except the slack outfit she was wearing. Bullheaded bureaucracy does not fit the situation, but stupidity and lack of feeling.

Surely there was someone around who could have loaned the girl a dress, but I'm sure that as she was, she was infinitely better dressed than some of the others who barely had their bottoms covered (if the situation in Tulsa is as bare as it is in Lincoln, Nebraska).

I'd much rather see a girl of any age in slacks of any kind, and think the situation in most of the Lincoln schools has improved since many of the girls are wearing slacks.

I do not think very much of any school employe who knows of such a situation and doesn't do something to help the person instead of adding to the burden already suffered. I hope that somebody who knows the family has finally done something constructive.

Patchwork Prairie Country

It smells like September in the kitchen this morning, fragrant with the frozen Hale peaches cooking on the stove. They were put in the deep freeze last fall when the sun was warm and a hint of autumn haze was in the air. Now September lives again with a delightful reminder of ripening fruit, sweet and heady, hanging on the trees; half-and-half days of cool mornings blending into a warm afternoon. The sweet bubbling juice and smell that fills the kitchen are worth every ounce of labor last fall. September is welcome to enter my kitchen via the peach orchard anytime it chooses.

It makes the cold winter days more bearable when the wind howls like a wild banshee and icicles crackle on the trees. I enjoy staying in my kitchen recollecting in reverie the bygone days of ripening fruit and sunlit days.

The black Angus calves have been sold to a neighbor across the way. Every year I watch them loaded into a truck and taken to market with a bit of regret. After watching them frisk about the yard in early spring, listening to them bawl until they find their mother, then her contented low as she comforts her offspring, I soon learn to like the little critters. Their black beady eyes watch me as I go with The Farmer to see them. They soon become unafraid of me and come within a few feet of my hand. Some of them touch my hand or let me rough their necks.

Now with them just across the fence, I will watch them grow, pick out the bashful one, the juvenile delinquent, the crybaby and the bold one. It really isn't like sending them to market for they will be just a bawl away from the farm.

Popcorn hot
Popcorn cold,
Popcorn in a pot
But never very old.

Popcorn doesn't have a chance for getting old at our place. The colder it gets outside, the faster The Farmer pops the corn inside. My appetite perks up just as soon as I begin to smell the corn popping in the kitchen. We munch and crunch and munch all night long. When we go to town we always check the amount of popcorn on hand. If we are low, we replenish our supply.

Last night we had pizza for supper, the ready-made frozen product that just requires putting in the oven and bringing it out again when it is done. At least that is what one is supposed to do unless distracted for a few minutes which allows too much baking time.

This I did. When I took it out, the crust was very well done, so done in fact that as I struggled to cut it, The Farmer said I needed an air hammer to get the job done.

This remark set me to laughing and I accomplished nothing more. To put it rather bluntly, I broke up before the pizza did.

I have come to one conclusion. There is nothing as hard as an overdone pizza crust. It sets up like Portland cement. Fortunately the filling does not so one can eat that and pretend it is being served on a porcelain plate.

However, the best solution is not to let a pizza bake too long in the first place. Next time I shall watch more carefully. I do not have an air hammer among my kitchen tools.

Reading back over my column, I see I have written about peaches, popcorn and pizza which brings me to one general conclusion. In the winter time farm folk spend a big portion of their day eating.

When it's cold outside, one way to slip back into the house is for a cup of coffee and roll, doughnut, cookie or cake, whatever happens to be on hand at any given time. After the noon chores are done, it's so good to come back in for a second cup of coffee that wasn't poured at the dinner table. Mid-afternoon provides a break from the cold and another cup of coffee with whatever is left over from the morning's lunch.

So it goes — eat and sip, sip and eat. Which surely serves to bring attention to the fact that we do an extra amount of eating in the wintertime but that's the time when a good hot cup of coffee tastes so extra special.

Cancer Sufferers At Medics' Mercy

NEW YORK — A recent piece here, repeating the seven most familiar symptoms of cancer and urging swift trips to the nearest doctor if they appear, brings some mail that will not be pleasant reading for the American Medical Association.

"I have been suffering with this terrible disease for close to five years," writes H. T. Christianson of San Diego, Calif. "It looks like the end is in sight, with me the loser.

"The problem that many people encounter when cancer strikes is the doctor. The entire medical profession seems to take an antagonistic view toward a cancer victim if he has no money of his own. The victim is bulldozed into paying the doctor through Medicare or, in my state, Medical.

"This is an outrageous situation and should be severely dealt with. I suspect that the present statistics on the number of cancer victims who were cured, and those who died, would show that the great proportion of those who died were poor, and thus got short shrift from their doctors."

"Much of what you say in this article is true, but it is all vitiated by a fallacy. You say that over 100,000 Americans will die this year because they will not follow the seven suggestions put out by the American Cancer Society. The fact is that even when the people do follow that list they come up against physicians who claim those symptoms are not indicative of an approaching cancer. I am speaking from a heart-breaking experience.

"My wife died last April from lung cancer that developed from the original or primary cause, breast cancer. When we first went to our doctor with the primary cause he made a perfunctory (if excruciating) examination and declared that there was no cause for us to worry. He gave her no medication, no treatment, never suggested that she see another doctor; just said that there was nothing wrong! Against my better judgment I trusted him because he's supposed to be a knowledgeable medic, president of the medical staff at a nearby hospital.

"Within a few months a lump appeared on that breast . . . for the last two years she knew she was dying because that doctor had made a mistake.

"You tell people to go to a physician as soon as unusual bleeding occurs. Yet when we do that, the physician makes light of our concern. It seems to me that the time has come for people like you to insist that medics take seriously the symptoms about which you warn.

"To compound the agony, these medics assert the horrible medical-theological brainwash that my wife's death was the will of God! And when I protest this easy escape from human responsibility, and the shifting of blame to Deity instead of where it belongs, then all hell breaks out and I'm accused of being an agnostic, of trying to harm the physician, etc.

"The fact is that in spite of their arrogant assumption of the messianic complex, medics do make mistakes, as happened in my wife's case.

"Of what use is it for anyone to follow your suggestions when a doctor says that a bleeding breast is no cause for concern? What protection have we against blundering medics? We are at their mercy."

Bankers Urging Administration Not To Interfere With Tax Dodge of Personal Accounts Abroad

WASHINGTON—The use of secret foreign bank accounts by shady Americans to stash away their ill-gotten, illegal and untaxed gains has become a major scandal.

Yet in the cloistered backrooms of the Treasury Department, the nation's most respectable bankers have brought quiet pressure upon the Nixon administration not to disturb these clandestine accounts.

The Internal Revenue Service was all set to support legislation which would require American citizens to keep records of their overseas banking transactions available for government inspection.

In fact, the IRS had already drafted a statement for Congress, but it was abruptly withdrawn just before it was supposed to be delivered before the House Banking and Currency Committee.

"We desperately need information with respect to international transfers of funds," the IRS had intended to tell Congress, "not only relative to foreign banks involved but also with regard to nominees and agents."

This needed information, suggested the suppressed IRS statement, "could be required by regulations issued under authority of the proposed legislation."

But before the statement could be presented, some distinguished bankers slipped into Washington to confer with Treasury officials. They held two subdued sessions with Assistant Secretary Eugene Rossides and other top Treasury men.

Among those who gathered in the backrooms were executives from such banking giants as Chase Manhattan, Morgan Guaranty Trust, Manufacturers Hanover, First National City, and Bank of America.

They urged the Treasury Department to oppose any regulation of foreign bank accounts. Their appeal must have impressed Treasury officials, for they immediately ordered Internal Revenue to revise its testimony.

Obediently, the IRS prepared a new statement, which asserted blandly: "We feel confident that U.S. banks will cooperate with the Treasury Department in determining an effective but not unreasonably burdensome way to make the desired information available to the IRS."

The opposition of the Nixon administration may now make it more difficult to stop U.S. gangsters, gamblers, tax evaders and businessmen from concealing money in secret accounts in Switzerland, the Bahamas and other countries.

But it won't deter House Banking Chairman Wright Patman, D-Texas, who is accustomed to battling the banks. He intends to show that chiselers not only deposit their shady money in foreign banks but achieve the same results by transferring funds through the big U.S. banks to fictitious accounts in their foreign branches.

A Las Vegas gambler, for instance, sent huge sums to an account in a West German branch of Chase Manhattan. The IRS suspected the account was registered in a fictitious name, but Chase Manhattan refused to furnish any information on the grounds that the account was protected by German law.

Similarly, some of the scandal-tainted money from the Army PX kickbacks and backdoor deals was traced to a branch bank of Manufacturers Hanover in faraway India. The bank refused to cooperate, however, citing local law.

Henry Morganthau Jr. was investigating the misuse of foreign bank accounts when he was fired by the Nixon administration as U.S. attorney in New York City. He had uncovered evidence that U.S. businessmen were using secret Swiss bank accounts to cover up insider deals and to violate margin requirements on the U.S. stock market.

Patman suspects that the bankers may also have interceded with the Nixon administration to get rid of Morganthau. The crusading Patman, who resembles a serenely impish, stuffed owl, intends to question Morganthau about this.

The big U.S push at Warsaw, now that the Chinese and Americans are sitting down together again, is for an exchange of journalists. The best way to break down the bamboo curtain, in the American opinion, is to open both countries to each another's newsmen.

Note: The idea of an exchange of correspondents was first proposed by Leonard Marks, former U.S. Information chief, who invited Red China to send correspondents to cover the 1968 presidential campaign in this country.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Ailing Husband Regrets Losing Temper Over Son's Misbehavior

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "What can we do about Dad? In a single terrible day two years ago we learned our 21-year-old son had both (a) gotten a neighbor girl in trouble and (b) been arrested on marijuana charges. When police released him he came home and Dad completely lost his temper — knocked him down and gave him a horrible beating. Joe picked himself up and left. Five minutes later Dad had a heart attack. Joe never returned and Dad has been on disability retirement and a semi-invalid ever since. He spends most of his time weeping over what he did and wanting Joe to come back. The police have Joe listed as a missing person but can't find him and we haven't had a word."

A. — Yours is a real tragedy -- one that reminds us of the need for reason rather than physical violence in dealing with others. About all you can do is continue having your son listed as missing and hope he can be located. In the meantime, try to get your husband involved in new activities. Arrange for an occupational therapist to teach him arts and crafts. Check with visitor services and arrange for people to drop in for conversation as often as possible. Ask your doctor about rehabilitation treatments which might permit your husband to obtain part-time work.

Q. — "How old should one be before cashing in growth stocks? For the past 25 years we've been putting our savings into growth stocks such as IBM and Polaroid which are worth maybe $28,000 today. They pay hardly any dividends but sure have increased in value. We're in our early 70's now, retired, and could use extra money. But my husband keeps saying these stocks may double in value within the next five years. What do you say?"

A. — The whole point of growth stocks is to help the individual accumulate capital during his working years. When he's through toiling he should sell these stocks and either spend the money for retirement needs or re-invest it in income-producing stocks that will give a five or six per cent return. Sure those stocks may ripen in the next five years, but your lawyers and heirs may be enjoying the fruit.

Q. — "You quoted some old duck who was complaining he couldn't find a woman interested in marriage. He said he thought most widows were less interested in men than in guarding their assets. Tell him to show me a decent man more interested in getting a good cow than milk for nothing and I'll show him a nice, attractive widow more concerned with having a respectable husband than money. Most single men I've met seem more interested in my house and property than in me. Don't you agree there's reason for widows to be cautious?

A. — Caution is fine, but don't be suspicious of everyone who shows interest in you. Probably nine-tenths of all single men are basically reliable and more interested in a happy companionable marriage than in bilking the bride.

Missouri Mud Bogs Burglars' Truck Hub Deep

Broseley, Mo. (AP) — Mild temperatures recorded the last few days have resulted in knee-deep mud in parts of southeast Missouri. Apparently the soggy ground is causing problems not only for farmers but for would-be burglars as well.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said thieves backed their pickup truck next to the Broseley High School. The break-in netted 48 typewriters and four heavy office copying machines.

Only after the loot was loaded on the truck did the men discover the vehicle had sunk hub-deep in the black gumbo mud. Efforts to free the truck met with no success and the thieves departed on foot.

Adequate Aid To Education Is Stressed

Democratic gubernatorial candidate J. J. Exon of Lincoln Wednesday urged Gov. Norbert Tiemann to intervene with Nebraska's congressional delegation in behalf of adequate federal education appropriations.

"I call upon you to immediately telephone Nebraska's congressional delegation and request that they not allow education to become the whipping boy of political budgeting by those who profess to want to stop inflation," Exon wired the Republican governor.

His telegram was dispatched to Tiemann shortly before the House vote which sustained President Nixon's veto of the appropriations bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"Can you explain how Nebraska schools will make up for the loss of federal funds without further drastic increases in state and local taxes?" Exon asked Tiemann.

POSTCARD

by

Got out a little bottle of gold nuggets (I keep them on my desk) and showed them to the moppets this gray, rainy morning.

"Gold" I said. "Gold from the American river!"

(The children said: "The Cap'n's walking in Queer Street today.")

It was during this week James Marshall picked up the first California gold. It was sparkling in the tail race of Sutter's Mill at Coloma.

Actually my gold comes from Dry Creek. Near Fiddletown. I panned it out myself. (Though I wonder if the people there hadn't salted the place.)

Anyway, we come from a long line of gold seekers. (An eye on the bluebird.)

Our great-grandfather put in three years in the California gold fields. Striking it rich at times. Other times eating parched corn.

In later years he told the family how it was.

"Forty years ago the gold mines of California was all the talk, and the gold fever was as contagious as the itch, and if you took it, brimstone and grease wouldn't cure you.

"The only remedy was for you to go to the mines and try your luck."

I do a little panning in the Mother Lode when I get the chance. Beautiful foothill country. Live oaks and folded hills and running water.

I hope to strike it rich someday. A man should have a rainbow's end. Mine is a rich pocket, stuffed with nuggets, that the Forty-niners overlooked.

I showed the gold to the children. They were mighty impressed. It's not sparkly. Kind of dull golden color. But gold sure enough.

"I did not catch the gold fever until February, 1850," great-grandfather wrote.

"I had it bad; it struck in on me."

He headed west across the plains, and that fall arrived in Weberville near Hangtown. Some 9,000 people and a number of stores once. I went over there recently. Found some brick foundations and one gravestone.

☆ ☆ ☆

He took it down to Sutter at the fort on the Sacramento. They decided it was gold all right.

By the next year the Forty-niners were arriving. About 90,000 miners dug up the Mother Lode. (But the people who made money ran saloons in San Francisco.)

Well, here's rainy winter days. And that's the rushing white water that uncovers the pockets of gold, mates.

Great-grandfather had a claim on Dry Creek. About two miles from where I panned out the gold I keep in the bottle on my desk.

It's a handy thing to look at when words fail me.

"How much gold is in the bottle?" the children asked.

"Enough to buy champagne and oysters for everybody," I said. "See what the boys in the back room'll have."

Here's a safety announcement from Gilmour-Danielson Drug and the American Pharmaceutical Association. Drugs can be dangerous if misused. For example, an overdose of barbiturates, such as sedatives and sleeping pills, can fog your memory and sense of time. An overdose of amphetamines, such as pep pills, can play tricks on your mind. And your vision can deceive you which can lead to bad accidents. Hallucinary drugs such as LSD can permanently damage the mind. You be the judge. Is the drug abuse worth it?

Callan Urges Nebraska Delegation To Reveal Ag Stand

Former Congressman Clair Callan Wednesday called upon Nebraska's congressional delegation to "make public what they want for an agricultural program, and start the fight for it right now."

That would be more useful, he suggested, than "waiting and then telling us how hard they tried."

The immediate economic future of the state "rests with the passage of farm legislation that will give the farmers of this state an opportunity to compete in the economy," Callan declared.

"This bill is a matter of economic survival for many farmers and for many other businesses directly connected with agriculture."

Nebraskans "should alert themselves now before it's too late . . . we should know what the administration and the congressional delegation have in mind for a farm bill."

The trend, based on the administration's record to date, is "certainly going against agriculture," Callan said.

William Galbraith, deputy undersecretary of agriculture for congressional relations, "sounded a little warning as to the problem" when he pointed to the need for urban support for a farm bill during a speech in Lincoln last week, Callan noted.

But, he said, it should also be noted that Republican Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis and Reps. Glenn Cunningham and Dave Martin all voted against the 1965 farm act, which expires this year.

Only member of the Nebraska delegation to support the bill was Callan himself, who served in the House from 1965 to 1967. He is a Democrat.

"The record will show that only nine Republicans supported the bill in the House," Callan noted.

Callan said earlier this week that he is considering entering the First District congressional race this year.

High Court Rehearing Sought In Robinson Murder Case

By United Press International

The State Supreme Court was asked Wednesday to conduct a rehearing on its Jan. 9 decision upholding the first degree murder conviction of Enoch Robinson, Macy.

The justices had overruled an appeal that a color autopsy photograph of the murder victim should not have been used as evidence against Robinson.

Robinson was sentenced to life imprisonment for the Jan. 13, 1969, stabbing death of Norman Grant, also of Macy.

The Supreme Court decision earlier this month said, "the admissibility of photographs in evidence rests largely in the discretion of the trial court."

The photo which Robinson challenged depicted the size of the fatal neck wound and also showed damage caused to the body by the autopsy work. Other photographs of the body before the autopsy were introduced in evidence without objection from the defense.

Robinson's motion for a rehearing said the court's opinion on the photograph "seeks to make a strained conclusion as to its influence upon the jury and concludes that it did not serve to influence the jury.

"This is a conclusion which this court is in no position to determine," the written brief said.

The brief was filed by attorney Mark J. Ryan, South Sioux City.

Conley Is Named Meredith Chief

Omaha — James Conley of New York City, formerly of Nebraska City, will succeed Frank P. Fogarty as general manager of the broadcasting division of the Meredith Corporation.

The broadcasting division office will be moved from Omaha to New York City, according to Darwin Tucker of Des Moines, Meredith president.

Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Conley of Nebraska City, is vice president of operations of the broadcasting division. He will take over his new post Feb. 1, after Fogarty's retirement.

Morrison Concerned By Lack Of Dam Support

. . . BUT DECLINES COMMENT ON POSSIBLE HOUSE RACE

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Former Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday expressed concern about the lack of support for the proposed Platte River reservoir thus far shown by congressional candidates in the Omaha-dominated Second District.

But Morrison declined to discuss at this time reports that he may enter the House race himself.

"I don't have anything to say about that now," the former three-term Democratic governor noted.

"But I am bothered by the fact that no one has come out for the dam on the Lower Platte or in favor of conserving waters on the river.

"Somebody has got to present the case for conserving the wasted water on the Platte River."

Both Republican candidates, incumbent Rep. Glenn Cunningham and challenger John McCollister, have expressed opposition to the proposed dam and reservoir, Morrison said.

Democratic candidate Robert Reilly has taken no position on the proposal, he said.

Morrison, now an Omaha attorney, testified in support of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers plan for development of a dam and reservoir at a public hearing in Omaha last November.

At that time, Morrison said the project could "bring a new era of expansion and development to eastern Nebraska."

But, he suggested, Nebraskans must reverse the attitude of their congressional delegation if the project can ever hope to gain approval from the Congress.

Both the Omaha and Lincoln Chambers of Commerce are on record in favor of the proposed $500 million project which would create a 100-square-mile lake between Omaha and the Capital City.

30% Of U.S. GIs In Vietnam Said Smokers Of Pot

Washington (UPI) — An Army medical officer who served in Vietnam estimates that up to 30% of the U.S. GIs there have used marijuana — a figure far higher than official ones.

Col. John J. Kovaric, who served as commander of a large evacuation hospital with the largest psychiatric team in Vietnam, made his estimate in a letter to the editor of the Washington Evening Star opposing any easing of restriction on marijuana.

In his letter, Kovaric said that at least one soldier has murdered his friends while "under the influence of marijuana and doing his own thing." He did not elaborate.

Planners Oppose Court Proposal

deferred action on a proposal for a new zoning district, which would be known as J Multiple Dwelling.

Proponents of the ordinance amendment had requested the deferral so that more land could be included in a change of zone request for J Multiple Dwelling.

Proposal Planned

Brogden said he also plans to propose at the commission's Feb. 18 meeting a zoning ordinance amendment which would reduce the front yard requirements for construction of apartment buildings taller than 45 feet in E Multiple Dwelling districts.

The planning director said the change might encourage development of new buildings in E Multiple districts.

Other recommendations:

—Approved vacation of 8th St. from Judson St. south to alley providing a turnaround is constructed or the alley is vacated.

—Approved special permit for community unit plan and also preliminary plat of Lakemont for property north of Pioneers east of 56th St., requested by William Keller.

—Approved special permit for construction of a parking lot on property south of O St., west side of 37th, requested by Austin Realty Co.

—Approved special permit for construction of a lodge on property at 24th and Potter Sts., requested by Lebanon Masonic Lodge.

—Approved special permit for erection of a sign on property at the intersection of Interstate 80 and Hwy. 77.

—Stated that channelization of 48th and Holdrege and 48th and Adams do not conflict with the comprehensive plan.

Warmer Temps Breaking Up Ice Along Missouri

Omaha (AP) — The Weather Bureau reported Wednesday forenoon there had been some shifting of ice bridges on the Missouri River from Nebraska City downstream during the past 24 hours.

Continued above freezing temperatures from St. Joseph, Mo., downstream, plus increased flows through the ice bridges may cause some ice breakup from St. Joseph downstream during the next 24 to 48 hours.

Forecasters said in the event the ice bridge in the Booneville, Mo., area breaks up, there will be a river rise of as much as five feet at Herman, Mo., within 24 hours and at St. Charles, Mo., within 48 hours.

Deaf Student To Reach First College Milestone Saturday

University of Nebraska commencement exercises are expected to bring to an end the first step of a college education begun 30 years ago by Mrs. Virginia Hughes of Lincoln (7111 Wedgewood Drive).

Mrs. Hughes is deaf. While other students listened to their professors Mrs. Hughes read their lips.

She lost her hearing at the age of five when she had diphtheria. Mrs. Hughes learned lip reading "naturally," because she was young.

Saturday Mrs. Hughes is scheduled to receive her bachelor of science degree in business administration. She is signed up for graduate school and plans to work on a masters degree in economics and then possibly obtain a doctors degree.

"I like the college students very much and would like eventually to teach them," she said.

VIRGINIA HUGHES
Began In 1930s

Mrs. Hughes graduated from Ann Arbor, Mich., High School in 1935 and attended the University of Michigan for several years. After marriage the Hughes lived in Lincoln. They had one daughter, now Mrs. Karen Hughes Christensen, 28, of Biloxi, Miss.

After her husband's death and before she returned to college, Mrs. Hughes traveled all over Europe. She said she decided to travel because she didn't want to withdraw from life as many widows do. Her travels gave her a "broad background" and a "new viewpoint," she said, and because of her handicap she was able to make friends with Europeans more easily than the typical American tourist.

She returned to college because it provided for her "a new kind of life. College is a way open to everyone and age makes no difference," Mrs. Hughes said, although she does not look much older than her fellow students.

"While in Lincoln with my husband I took some philosophy courses which I liked very much. But I decided on a major in business administration and economics because it was more practical," she said.

The petite and lively brunette credits much of her success in college to the Rehabilitation for the Handicapped Program under the State Board of Education.

"People think that rehabilitation is a charity, but it is a wonderful program, a program for the handicapped to be proud of," she said. "I am very proud to be a part of it."

Among other services, she explained, the Rehabilitation Program provides psychologists for counseling of handicapped persons. And the program is not only for handicapped persons in college but for anyone who is handicapped, she said.

She also gave credit to the university professors, who, she said, "have been marvelous — all of them." She mentioned specifically Dr. A. Stuart Hall, professor of economics, who recommended to her the rehabilitation program.

Mrs. Hughes is a member of the economics honorary Omicron Delta Epsilon. She said her hobbies are traveling, dogs, and people.

This Week's Health Tip

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Carbon monoxide is a deadly, colorless, odorless, tasteless gas produced every time a carbon-containing material burns.

Since you cannot see, smell, or taste it, the gas is hard to detect except by your symptoms — drowsiness, headache, tightness across the forehead, confusion, nausea and muscular weakness. If you do not reach fresh air, carbon monoxide kills.

To prevent carbon monoxide poisoning in your home, have all heating systems checked annually for operating efficiency. Make sure that vents, pipes, flues, and chimneys are tight. Be sure that all heating devices designed for venting are properly vented to the outside.

Charcoal grills and hibachis used indoors are dangerous unless you provide additional fresh air. And, remember that your fireplace damper should always remain open until you are certain that the fire is out.

Omahan To Receive Builder Award

A native of Omaha, J. J. (Jake) Isaacson, will receive the University of Nebraska's highest nonacademic honor, the Nebraska Builder Award, at midyear commencement.

The commencement will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in Pershing Municipal Auditorium.

The Nebraska Builder Award citation recognizes Isaacson for "his effective efforts to add to the satisfactions of living in his home community of Omaha and the contributions he has made in promoting cooperation between the metropolitan and rural communities of Nebraska".

Isaacson, who has engaged in promotions since he was a newsboy at the age of six, is

J. J. ISAACSON
High Honor

founder of Mid-America Expositions Inc. and secretary of the Downtown Omaha Association. He is most widely identified, however, with Ak-Sar-Ben.

He became activities manager of Ak-Sar-Ben in 1932 and his promotions included bookings that run the gamut from Jack Dempsey and Babe Ruth to opera star Rise Stevens and comedian Bob Hope.

He led Ak-Sar-Ben racing from a less than optimistic financial position to one of the most respected and progressive tracks in the nation and for this service was awarded the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association "Racing's Man of the Year Award".

Most significantly, however, Isaacson, as general manager and executive director, succeeded in developing Ak-Sar-Ben as a service organization, a giver of more than 500 scholarships annually, and an organization of regional rather than local interests.

Vietnam Can Double Role In Air War, Seamans Says

Washington (AP) — Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr. reported Wednesday the South Vietnamese will be able to take over half of the air war in Vietnam by the end of next year.

The South Vietnamese currently fly 25% of the allied air sorties, he said, and will be capable of doubling this rate "in the next year and three quarters."

Seamans, who recently returned from a 10-day inspection trip to Southeast Asia, told reporters the South Vietnamese are progressing satisfactorily in making the first major improvements to their 15-year-old air force.

"We must not expect too much," Seamans cautioned, "there may be setbacks from time to time."

But Seamans praised the quality of South Vietnam's pilots, saying some have flown more than 3,000 sorties. He said the Vietnamese air force's operational readiness compares favorably with that of the United States.

Pentagon officials said Seamans was speaking both of a doubling of aircraft as well as pilots in South Vietnam.

The South Vietnamese now have 20 air squadrons operational with approximately 17,000 pilots, mechanics and other personnel. Squadrons have about 20 planes. The United States provides the aircraft as well as the training for the air crews.

Why are Lincoln Police Dept. autos allowed to park on the red line near the University of Nebraska Law College?
—Irate, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Probably you would be more irate if all those Police officers attending a law enforcement seminar at the NU Law College were parked on meters thereby removing those meters from general public use.

Also, says the Lincoln Police Dept., emergency vehicles like police cruisers must be available at all times for immediate use and parking between other autos near meters could mean that a cruiser would become jammed between autos.

When will the public be able to use S&H greenstamp books for cash or merchandise of our choice? It seems unfair to be limited with present rules and selecting from catalog merchandise only. —H.S., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Sperry-Hutchinson Co. (S & H) policy is to redeem green stamps only for merchandise except in states of Wyoming, Wisconsin and Washington where state laws forbid merchandise redemption.

Terrence Sullivan, S & H Zone Manager, says the customer "gets a much better value by redeeming stamps in merchandise" since the company buys its products in large quantities.

S & H has experimented with a number of merchandising plans since its origin in 1896, and Sullivan says the result is that people prefer merchandise.

Air travelers arriving in Lincoln's Municipal Airport freeze in the trip from the concourse to the luggage area. Why not heat the concourse permanently instead of those tiny heaters that are infrequently turned on? —Cold Traveler, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Installation of a large all-around heating system for the concourse would not be economically possible says Airport Authority Director Rolland Harr. Plans are in the works for construction of a new terminal building, Harr says. The new terminal will be completely heated as well as air-conditioned.

The infra-red overhead heaters presently there are useful only to persons standing directly under them. When a gate area is in use, the heaters are turned on, but, says Harr, there is little reason to leave them on when the area is not in use.

In your ACTION LINE column last Thursday, you suggested that a person searching for an identification tag to alert medical personnel to penicillin allergy go to a jewelry or dime store to purchase one. I am a pharmicist and wondered why you did not mention local pharmacies, of which about 75% sell such identifications tags for $1. —Steven Marx, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: So mentioned. And thanks for bringing the matter to ACTION LINE's attention.

Also, the Blue Valley Life Underwriters Assn., Box 548 Beatrice, writes that the firm will be more than happy to furnish information and application for affiliation with Medic-Alert of Turlock, Calif., a non-profit organization which makes available I.D. bracelets or tags for anyone with any kind of physical or a mental condition.

ACTION LINE has sources beyond many dreams, but only the public can complete those sources of information.

I have about 10 years of secretarial bookkeeping experience and I find myself with about four hours a day which I could devote to typing or work like that. What can I do?
—Secretary, Seward

ACTION LINE: Check local newspaper want ads; register with the State Employment Service, 1140 Q St., Lincoln; or place your name on lists maintained by the University of Nebraska Graduate College for thesis typing.

Good luck.

How about federal or state laws regulating the noise level caused by industrial machinery which could be harmful to hearing. If there are such laws, where can I get information? —Delbert Yost, Crete

ACTION LINE: Write to the Dept. of Labor, Safety Division, Statehouse, Lincoln.

U. S. Safety Standard Code regulations stipulate noise levels considered safe in manufacturing plants. The labor department in cooperation with the University of Nebraska makes frequent noise level tests in these plants to enforce the national safety code.

I need information for a school report on school dropouts. I would like to know where to find the information on what percentage of students in the U.S. quit school last year and how many returned compared to ten years ago.
—Cynthia Votipka, Alxandria

ACTION LINE: Education officials frankly point out that such information will indeed be hard to come by. Try the National Education Assn., Research Division, 1201 Sixteenth St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Who sings that great old Western hit song 'I've Got Five Dollars and It's Saturday Night'"? —I.N.A., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Must be an oldie because $5 won't make a very exciting Saturday night anymore.

There were five versions found: Shorty Rogers and his Giants; Jeri Southern (those two were most likely the first Bing Crosby; and orchestrations by Anson Weeks and Bernie Richards.

All training will be in occupations in which there is a local demand for skilled workers.

These projects are locally initiated by the state employment services and state vocational education agencies.

Reapportionment Hit

Albany, N.Y. (UPI) — The Republican controlled-legislature passed a bill reapportioning New York's 41 congressional districts. Democrats labeled the plan "political pornography" and said it would cost them between two and six seats in Congress.

Chamber Surprised Lincoln Not Picked For Law Center

Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Vice President Harry Seward said Wednesday he was surprised that a state site selection committee did not chose Lincoln for the proposed new police training academy.

Seward told the chamber board that Lincoln interests proposed that the city build a new law enforcement training facility on the same basis as it is now constructing a new structure for the State Game Commission.

Further, the site selection committee was assured that the academy could continue using facilities that it presently occupies at the Lincoln Air Park for as long as necessary.

Grand Island was chosen as the new site by the committee, which also considered Lincoln, Omaha and Beatrice.

"I am surprised we were not accepted," Seward said. "We put our best foot forward . . . the best proposal we could possibly present."

In other chamber of commerce action, Dave Breslow, a chamber vice president who is also chairman of the Citizens Committee for the Platte Valley Reservoir, said that joint Lincoln-Omaha group will "continue working behind the scenes" on behalf of the proposed U.S. Army Corps of Engineers project.

Breslow said he is confident that the dam and reservoir — estimated to cost some $500 million — will be built some time in the future.

For the time being, he said, the citizens committee will watch closely the progress of the upcoming recommendation on the project by the corps' staff. All testimony preparatory to the corps recommendation was completed by Jan. 17th.

The cooperative effort between Lincoln and Omaha chamber members in backing the Platte dam proposal "shows what could and should be done in the future," Breslow said.

The chamber announced an operational budget of $266,913 for 1970 compared to expenses of $237,783 budgeted for last year. A balance sheet for 1969 has not been completed.

The new budget estimates total income of $267,101, including an almost $20,000 increase in expected senior membership dues. Senior dues were increased by $10 over the past year.

The 1970 budget, "on the face of it, appears balanced," said Chamber President Glenn Yaussi.

Wilbur Files Appeal Notice

Counsel for Gary L. Wilbur, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the August 1969 death of his wife, filed a notice of appeal in Lancaster District Court Wednesday.

The notice of appeal to the Supreme Court stated that Wilbur was found guilty by a Lancaster District Court jury Dec. 12, 1969, and the motion for a new trial was overruled by Judge Bartlett Boyles Dec. 31.

Wilbur was charged in connection with the Aug. 19 death of his wife, Judy. According to testimony at the trial, Mrs. Wilbur's death was related to a damaged liver resulting from a "sudden blow" to the right side of the abdomen.

Havelock Businessmen Say Their Parking Will Be Tops

With the completion of off street parking to accommodate several hundred cars, Havelock businessmen will claim top parking facilities in the city.

In what has been described as an "unusual spirit of cooperation among Havelock businessmen," owners of business property being used for parking donated the land, and in all but one or two cases, paid for the paving.

Moe Carlton, chairman of the Havelock Businessmen's Association's retail committee said the late Victor E. Anderson started the project by paving a parking lot east of stores between 62nd and 63rd streets on the north side of Havelock Ave.

Additional lots are located immediately behind stores on Havelock Ave. between 61st and 62nd streets, and between 62nd and 63rd.

Blacktopping in lots between 61st and 62nd will be completed as soon as weather permits.

Slump In Market Hurt New York

New York (UPI) — The stock market slump cost the city $14.8 million in the last six months of 1969, Finance Administrator Fioravante G. Perrotta reported Wednesday.

Perrotta said that due to slower trading on the stock exchange, revenues on stock sales decreased from $140.9 million in the last six months of 1968 to $126.1 million for the same period last year.

A Kansas woman filed a $95,600 suit in U.S. District Court Wednesday against a Kearney man in connection with an auto accident in 1967.

Freeda F. Dreher, in her petition, claimed damages, medical expenses and loss of income resulting from the accident.

Named as defendant in the case was Carl E. Gustafson who, according to the petition, was driving a car which collided with the rear of the Dreher vehicle two miles west of Kearney on June 6, 1967.

The plaintiff alleged she suffered spinal injuries and abrasions as a result of the accident.

Carswell Hailed As 'Legal Scholar'

Washington (AP) — Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell completed his Senate testimony Wednesday hailed as a "legal scholar" and apparently assured of confirmation.

Disavowing again any racial prejudice, the federal appeals court judge glided through his second and final day as a witness before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

So smoothly did the session go that one of his admirers, Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., inadvertently addressed the nominee as "Justice Carswell."

Two persistent committee liberals, Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., caused what little difficulty Carswell experienced. They kept asking him why he had bought a share of stock in an all-white country club in Tallahassee in 1955.

Carswell doodled on a scrap of paper while they probed. Replying with only a trace of heat, he said he did not have racial segregation in mind when he contributed $100.

He said, "The $100 I put in was for no racial purpose." And, he said, the private group quickly folded, returning $76 to him.

Finally, Senate minority leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa., rallied to Carswell's aid.

Setting aside the heavy pipe he had smoked placidly through the exchanges with Bayh and Kennedy, Scott declared:

"This is the biggest furore over $24 since the Indians sold Manhattan."

Kennedy insisted that he and Bayh were pursuing "a legitimate line of inquiry."

But they had no more questions.

Judging by the reception Carswell received generally, he probably will be approved by the committee overwhelmingly — perhaps early next week.

The committee plans to hear testimony Thursday from witnesses opposed to Carswell's confirmation.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., hailed the nominee as "a legal scholar" and "a man of unquestioned integrity and impeccable character."

No One Survives Commuter Plane Plunge Into Erie

Cleveland (UPI) — A two-engine Tag Airlines commuter plane en route from Cleveland to Detroit with nine persons aboard crashed into ice-covered Lake Erie Wednesday. The Coast Guard said there were no survivors.

"The plane crashed through nine inches of ice," a Coast Guard spokesman said. "A major portion of the plane was submerged. No bodies were spotted at the scene."

The spokesman said if anybody survived the crash, it was possible they may have frozen in the water where the plane went down about 20 miles northwest of here.

Innocent Plea Entered For Manson

Los Angeles (AP) — A judge entered a plea of innocent Wednesday on behalf of Charles M. Manson — charged with murder and conspiracy in the killings of actress Sharon Tate and six others — after the leader of a hippie-type tribe objected to court actions.

"I object to further proceedings, the grand jury and the indictments," the 35-year-old drifter told Superior Court Judge George M. Dell at a hearing for plea. "I object to the heinous methods of the establishment in connection with the indictments."

When Manson failed to enter a plea himself, the judge did it for him.

Dell set Feb. 9 either for start of trial or setting a trial date. He ordered Manson to return to court Feb. 6 for a hearing on motions in which Manson contends there is insufficient evidence for an indictment.

Feb. 9 also is the date three of Manson's codefendants are due in court for setting of a trial date.

Manson is accused with five members of his nomadic "family" of the killings last Aug. 9 of Miss Tate and four visitors to her Hollywood mansion, and the killings Aug. 10 of a man and his wife.

Fourth Man In Murder Plot Testifies In Yablonski Probe

©The New York Times

Cleveland — A young Tennessean identified as the fourth member of the plot to kill Joseph A. Yablonski and his wife and daughter testified before the federal grand jury investigating the case here for nearly an hour Wednesday.

The so-called fourth man, who is reported to have backed out of the murder conspiracy before the killings last Dec. 31 and since then to have become a key police informer, was identified unofficially as James Charles Phillips, 22.

Phillips, who was escorted to the grand jury room by two FBI agents, was said to be a native of Knoxville, Tenn., and a friend of Claude E. Vealey, one of the three accused gunmen.

Phillips as well as Vealey and the two other suspects being held here with Vealey on federal charges of conspiring to kill Yablonski, an insurgent leader of the United Mine Workers of America, are residents of Cleveland's Appalachian migrant community.

Vealey, 27, Paul E. Gilly, 36, and Aubran Wayne Martin, 21, also faced first-degree murder charges in Washington County, Pa., where the Yablonskis lived.

Phillips and Vealey were reported to be giving FBI crucial guidance in the unfolding second phase of the murder investigation, designed to trace — with the grand jury's help — the source of the payment said to have been made for the Yablonskis' deaths.

Maseru, Lesotho (AP) — Prime Minister Chief Leabua Jonathan and opposition leader Ntsu Mokhehle retained their seats with large majorities in this small African monarchy's first post-independence election.

Results announced by late Wednesday night gave Jonathan's ruling Basutoland National Party 60 seats in the national parliament. The election was held Tuesday.

Law Enforcement Center Location Draws Criticism From Carpenter

Omaha (UPI) — State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said it was unfair of Gov. Norbert Tiemann to suggest that the Nebraska Law Enforcement Training Center would have been located at Omaha if the city had only been designated in the bill creating the center.

Carpenter, a chief sponsor of the measure, said "we were lucky to get the bill passed as it was." He said the "county sheriffs didn't want the amendment for the center" because of a running feud between about one-half of the sheriffs and the patrol and a reluctance on the part of some sheriffs to submit the direction of their training to Col. James E. Kruger, head of the patrol.

Stipulating Omaha as the site in the measure, Carpenter said, would have virtually guaranteed its defeat.

Carpenter, who said Omaha needs a vocational-technical school, said that if re-elected, he would sponsor a bill in the 1971 unicameral to place a vocational-technical school at the North Omaha Radar Station.

Carpenter gave three reasons why Governor Tiemann should have selected Omaha for the law enforcement training site.

He said Omaha has a higher percentage of crimes among its population, so why make all the people with the problems travel from Omaha to Grand Island.

Also the University of Nebraska at Omaha, which is nationally recognized for its programs of law enforcement, could be used as an adjunct to the center.

And thirdly, national crime experts could be more readily encouraged to visit the center if it were located at Omaha facilitating air travel to the center.

Whelan Files For Board Of Education Post

Hastings attorney Gerald Whelan filed with the secretary of state Wednesday to oppose John A. Wagoner of Grand Island for the fifth district seat on the state Board of Education.

Whelan said Wagoner was a "key figure in the board majority which has been embroiled in strife of recent months."

Nebraskans want to redistrict, Whelan said, but the board "has failed to promote legislation which would set timetables and provide guidelines in this field so that the people can redistrict themselves.

"All progress in redistricting, funding and administration has stopped because of the board's lack of guidance and the time for change is long overdue," he said.

The current board has lost the confidence of the legislature and the people, he said.

"Enough taxes are now being paid to provide the educational system most Nebraskans want, but the money is not being allocated or spent properly," Whelan said.

The 44-year-old former city attorney and Hastings native is married and has four children.

Nixon 'Courageous' In Veto Action, Claims Rep. Denney

Washington (AP) — Rep. Robert Denney, R-Neb., said Wednesday President Nixon was "courageous" in vetoing the $19.7 billion appropriations bill for labor, health, education and welfare.

Denney voted to uphold the veto in the House of Representatives and thus scuttle the bill that provided $1.26 billion more than Nixon requested.

Denney said the House action "was not anti-education but anti-inflation." He said inflation has reached an annual rate of more than 6%.

Denney also said there was substantial doubt that the increase in funding could be spent wisely in the few remaining months of the academic year.

Denney said the House action does not mean there will be a reduction in federal aid to education from last year. "President Nixon requested a 13% increase for fiscal 1970 above federal expenditures for education last year.

"Such an increase is warranted because demands for quality education in America must be met but without exacting the cruel tax of inflation on others and even on education itself," Denney said.

Report Belies Forecast Of Inflation Slowdown

Washington (AP) — The government's first price report of 1970 showed a sharp jump in wholesale prices in January, offering little support for Nixon administration predictions for an early slowdown in inflation.

The Labor Department reported Wednesday a rise of 0.7% in its wholesale price index measuring farm products, processed foods and feeds and a broad range of industrial raw materials.

It was the largest monthly jump in eight months in wholesale prices, which generally show up later in higher living costs, and continued 1969's worst inflation in 20 years. It was the second highest one-month rise in some four years.

'$64 Question'

The report followed by one day Labor Secretary George P. Shultz's comment that how soon prices might begin to moderate is "the $64 question," but that "I think it's very soon."

Another report from the Commerce Department Wednesday indicated the nation's economy might not be cooling off as rapidly as believed under President Nixon's policies against inflation.

"A broader range of economic data suggest that some observers have exaggerated the weakness of the economy in the fourth quarter," said the department's chief economist, Assistant Secretary Harold C. Passer.

Shultz Points

Shultz, pointing to declining retail sales, industrial production and profits, said Tuesday that "anyone who looks around at the economy today and says the anti-inflation policy is not taking hold is just not seeing what is going on."

But Passer said reports that the economy virtually stopped growing in the last quarter of 1969 may have been exaggerated because much of the slowdown was in single industries.

Passer said the gross national product would have shown some increase except for the 13-week-old strike of some 147,000 General Electric Co. workers.

The January rise in wholesale prices in a preliminary report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the biggest rise was 2% for processed foods and feeds, particularly pork and sugar. Farm products rose 0.4% and industrial raw materials 0.3%.

Czech Premier Cernik Is Ousted

©The New York Times

Prague — Premier Oldrich Cernik, one of the leaders of the 1968 liberal reform movement in Czechoslovakia, was ousted Wednesday night and replaced by Lubomir Strougal, a pro-Moscow concervative.

Strougal, a 45-year-old party functionary with a reputation for unwavering Marxist-Leninist orthodoxy, has been a driving force in the purge of progressives from regional and party organizations. He is also generally regarded as a rival to Gustav Husak, the party chief.

In a major shuffle of top party and government posts, the Communist Party's central committee also ousted Cernik from its ruling presidium. He remains a member of the central committee and becomes a cabinet minister for investments development.

Though once considered a hero of the reform movement and arrested by the Russians at the time of the Soviet-led invasion in August 1968, Cernik has since sought to survive by becoming a "realist" and urging accommodation with Moscow. Only this month he justified the invasion by saying the country had been threatened by "counter-revolution."

Many observers believe that Cernik's ouster resulted not only from his association with the drive for more democracy, but also from the desire of the present leaders to place blame for Czechoslovakia's sagging economy.

Lincoln General Plans Two-Level Wing To West

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln General Hospital's capital improvement plans for the next three years call for construction of a basement and ground-floor wing to the west of the existing structure, it was revealed Wednesday.

The additional space would be for services and education. The structure would be located on the present doctors' parking lot and would cost an estimated $500,000-$600,000, according to Hospital Administrator Robert Brungard.

A 300-seat auditorium and classrooms for the school of nursing would be among facilities included in the new construction, Brungard said.

The west wing would follow completion of one of the hospital's three shell floors in accord with the capital improvements budget for fiscal years 1971-73 submitted to the City Council, he said.

Into 4th Floor

The hospital expects to begin expansion into the fourth patient floor sometime this year at an approximate cost of $1 million. Some 88-100 acute care beds would be added with the one-floor expansion.

Long-range plans include construction of a structure almost as large as the main hospital to the east of the present building where the old hospital is being razed. There are no definite plans for use of the east addition, although no patient care would be provided, Brungard pointed out.

Additional services, expansion of surgery and therapy facilities, enclosed parking or other uses might be included in the unscheduled building. Surface parking for employes will be provided on the site until future expansion is determined.

$1.5 Million

According to the presentation of the three-year capital improvements budget last month, the $1.5 million requested was to be used for expansion into the fourth patient floor, land acquisition, construction of additional parking lots and $10,000 each year for miscellaneous physical plant modifications inside the existing structure.

Brungard told the hospital board of trustees at its meeting Wednesday that the occupancy rate of the 226-bed hospital of nearly 80% during the past year supports plans to move into another patient floor. The average daily census for the 1969 calendar year was 180, with an average length of stay of 7.6 days, he said.

Transfer Okayed

The board approved transferring the two elevators that served the old hospital building into the new building at a cost of $145,000. It would cost the hospital $38,000 more to buy new elevators, it was reported.

The Lincoln General Auxiliary presented the hospital board with a $12,165 gift to buy a cardiac scopette for training purposes, a Susie Simon life-size model that simulates all body organs and processes, hood warmers for infant isolettes and an automatic utensil and flask washer.

A $1,156 gift from Bud Hunt enabled the hospital to purchase an electronic heart unit and conversion kit to use with the Susie Simon model to simulate cardiac arrests.

Miss Schmieding Named To Head Lincoln General Nursing Service

Miss Jean Schmieding has been appointed director of nursing service at Lincoln General Hospital, effective Feb. 16, the hospital board of trustees was told Wednesday.

Miss Schmieding is a graduate of the Lincoln General School of Nursing and Nebraska Wesleyan University and received her master's degree in nursing service administration from Boston University, administrator Robert Brungard reported.

It was also announced Wednesday that Dr. Frank Stone, an orthopedic surgeon, had been re-elected chief of the hospital's medical staff at the physicians' annual meeting.

Continuing as heads of the hospital departments and sections are Drs. S. F. Moessner, surgery; R. E. Garlinghouse, obstetrics-gynecology; W. Q. Bradley, radiology; F H. Tanner, pathology; J. E. Gardner, general practice; M. J. Mathews, internal medicine; L. D. Cherry, general surgery; H. V. Munger, urology; H. E. Mitchell, orthopedics.

State Already Has 'No-Knock' Law

State Attorney Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer told Lincoln police officers Wednesday that Nebraska laws already provide for a special "no-knock" warrant similar to the legislation passed by the U.S. Senate Tuesday.

Meyer, speaking to the 25th annual police training school, said officers can obtain special warrants with a provision that allows them to enter premises without announcement of their purpose.

The attorney general said the special warrant can be issued when there is reason to believe that certain evidence can only be obtained by an unannounced entry.

State of Flux

Search and seizure laws are in a constant state of flux, Meyer said, due to court decisions that continually add new dimensions to the regulations.

The attorney general listed a number of recent cases modifying law officers' rights to search persons and property and seize evidence.

Officers can search an arrested person and the "area within his immediate control," Meyer said.

That means a policeman can search a desk if the arrested person is sitting at it, but he can't search drawers in an adjoining room.

Officers with an arrest warrant can't search the arrested person's house on the basis of the arrest warrant, he reminded.

Pay Plan Backed

Thomas Pansing, chairman of the Region II Crime Commission, told the officers the commission is supporting a pay raise incentive plan for policemen in an effort to improve law enforcement and fight the high turnover rate in Lincoln's police force.

Pansing said the plan provides for raises on the basis of college and military experience.

"A police officer's job has changed very much in the past 20 years," Pansing said. "We feel we must reassess the relationship between these other city jobs and the police officer's job."

Pansing also told the officers that the crime commission's federal money will be used for community-relations and training where possible and that none or very little will go for police hardware.

Police Uniforms Out For Off-Duty Jobs After Feb. 1

The City Personnel Board decided it has no authority to interfere with the order issued by Police Chief Richard R. Andersen.

The vote was 3 to 1 with chairman Kenneth W. Syas casting the dissenting vote.

Officials of the Omaha Police Union have criticized the order and Bill K. Bloom, the union's business representative, indicated the issue may be taken to court.

The personnel board ruled that the directive from Andersen was an administrative order and not a change in personnel rules. If it had been interpreted as a change in rules, as advocated by union attorneys, it would have needed approval of the board.

Bride At Cathedral Ceremony

Tall cathedral candles, inset in banks of woodwardia, and arrangements of white blossoms appointed the Blessed Sacrament Chapel at the Cathedral of the Risen Christ for the wedding of Miss Mary Elizabeth Van Bloom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Van Bloom, and Richard Paul Marshall, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard P. Marshall, which took place on Wednesday evening, Jan. 28. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Clarence Crowley solemnized the 7:30 o'clock ceremony and Houghton Furr, who played the wedding music, also accompanied the vocal soloist, Harold Osborn.

Silk crepe in the Kelly green tone was chosen for the costumes of the attendants, including Mrs. Gene Budig, who was her sister's matron of honor, and maid of honor Miss Carol Schoenknecht of New Haven, Conn. Silhouette sheaths in maxi length, designed with jewel necklines and Bishop sleeves, had a slight back fullness and were split from the Empire bodice line to hem on the left side to reveal a cascade of triple cording. The sheaths were worn over flaring, bell-shaped pants, also fashioned of the Kelly green silk crepe. They completed their ensembles with forehead bands of silver ribbon caught at one side with loops of the ribbon from which extended floor-length streamers. Each carried a sheaf of white gladioli ornamented with French silver tricotine.

William Marshall served as best man, and seating the guests were Dr. Gene Budig and Jon H. Van Bloom.

The bride appeared in a gown of ivory-toned silk crepe designed in the Empire mode. The bodice, fashioned with Bishop sleeves and a crescent neckline, was smoothly sculptured and the Guipure lace, which contoured the bodice line, was repeated on the French panels which gave back interest to the long, slender skirt. Her madonna veil, bordered with lace, held to the head with a postiche extended into cathedral length and she carried a cascade bouquet of Victorian glamelias.

The bride attended Temple Buell College in Denver, Colo., and Mr. Marshall is a student in the College of Engineering at the University of Nebraska.

Variety Is The Spice In The Suburban Activity

Even with showers and damp chill winds we still say it feels like spring — for a day or so at least. Before you complain about your spotted windshield (or your spotted nylons) and all of the bare brown grass, remember that this time last year it was snowing every two or three days. At least variety has been our refreshing lot this winter.

Variety has been creeping into suburban activity too, and things are really back to normal these days after the post-Christmas lull. Just this weekend, there were a number of things going on.

Tom Bothwell for instance, spent last weekend away from Lincoln, as the guest of his cousin, Charles Goin, in Manhattan, Kan. Another member of the family who headed south last weekend was Tom's great-aunt, Mrs. J. T. Dickson, who was returning to her Washington, Kan., home after a week's visit with Tom and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bothwell, at their Southbrook Summit home.

As Mr. and Mrs. Bothwell's guest was departing, guests were arriving to spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold H. Wells. Mrs. Wells' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Delp, came from Rochester, Minn. with their 16-month old son Channing.

Another family enjoying houseguests last weekend was that of Mr. and Mrs. William Cole. Mrs. Cole's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Stubbendick of Bertrand, were here for several days.

Back from a trip of their own are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Z. Mundorf, who spent three days in Omaha last week. They were attending the international staff meeting of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn H. Minderman had a dinner party on Saturday evening. Their guests for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan of Kansas City, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hansen, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Krogman.

Clifford Place residents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hobelman, drove to their farm near Wymore to spend the weekend. Joining them were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hobelman, who also reside in Lincoln. The younger Hobelmans had a special reason for their trip — Mrs. Hobelman's sister, Mrs. Justin Danforth, was installed as Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star. In addition to visiting Mr. and Mrs. Danforth, the Lincoln couple spent some time with another sister of Mrs. Hobelman, Mrs. J. R. Craig, and Mr. Craig.

Another Clifford Place resident, Mrs. Guy Lake, had houseguests early this week — Dr. Max Lake and his son Steve, of Salina, Kan. Father and son took time out from their usual occupations — opthalmologist and Kansas State University student, respectively — to visit Mrs. Lake and other relatives in the Lincoln area.

Allen Funt's Apartment Has 'Looney' Atmosphere

BY JUDY KLEMESRUD
(c) New York Times Service

New York — When Allen Funt, television's peeping tom, bought his $165,000 duplex apartment five years ago, he decided then and there that it wasn't going to be like anybody else's.

It certainly isn't.

Although luxurious enough on the surface, his 10-room apartment in Beresford, 1 West 81st St. is so loaded with gadgets and unusual features that it has a slightly looney quality reminiscent of Funt's television series, "Candid Camera."

"There is a nuttiness in every room," Funt said the other day, and he might have been referring to the aquarium built into the bathroom wall that doubles as a night light. Or the 30 paintings "by the worst painter of the 19th century." Or the television set that is hidden behind a screen in the fireplace. Or the super-bed that not only moves in all directions, but also contains all of the electric controls for the apartment, a safe and a refrigerator.

"The refrigerator is for no-cal," said Marilyn Funt, a slender brunette who was her husband's secretary before she quit to become the second Mrs. Funt. "And the only thing in the safe right now is my daughter's hair."

That hair once grew on the head of Juliette Funt, 3 years old, whose bedroom resembles the main floor of F.A.O. Schwarz, the large Manhattan toy store. A life-size stuffed zebra and monkey and giraffe are in the room, which Funt designed to look like a ship's interior.

"I've always wanted a room like this," he half-whispered as Juliette and her 2-year-old brother, William, scampered among the toy menagerie. "I guess you fulfill your own dreams."

Funt, who has three grown children by his first marriage, would admit to only one candid camera in the house. The camera, along with hidden microphones, keeps track of William while he is sleeping. The Funts can watch their son by dialing Channel 6 on the television set that is imbedded in the ceiling of their canopy bed.

Funt, who studied art at Pratt Institute and Cornell, planned most of the decorating for the apartment.

He also constructed many of the apartment's gadgets — he is especially proud of a round bathroom shaving mirror that pulls out to his face — in his workshop on the second floor.

That currently fashionable word among the decorating crowd, "eclectic," cannot be applied to the Funt apartment. Almost every room has a clearcut style of its own.

"We just didn't trust ourselves to mix," the Bronx-born Funt explained. "People need a lot more experience than we've had to mix furniture."

And so the living room is Victorian, the library is Chinese, the kitchen is German, the enclosed terrace is Siamese, the master bedroom is Spanish, and the guest bedroom is Gothic.

A key to the decor in each room can be found in a family photograph on the wall. In the living room, for example, there are colored photographs of the Funt children in Victorian period costumes. And in the library, a photograph of a smiling Chinaman (Allen Funt) reaffirms a visitors initial impression that he is in an oriental room.

"I've never taken this whole decorating thing seriously," said Funt, whose first film, "What Do You Say to a Naked Lady?" is soon to be released. "I like to play with it."

The his-and-her bathrooms off the master bedroom are two of the apartment's high points.

But the Funt family favorite is the kitchen. An enormous room with dark carved-wood paneling, it features a dining and a utility table, each mounted on barber chair bases; stained glass skylights; and two ovens, two stoves, two refrigerators and two freezers.

The Funt household also includes two governesses, a housekeeper and a chauffeur. There is also a 65-acre country place at Croton-on-the-Hudson and an office with its own gymnasium.

"I want to die without a penny," Funt said. "He's working at it," his wife chimed in.

The Wedding Of Nancy Hardin, Douglas Rogers To Have Setting Steeped In American History

It will seem most proper and fitting to Nebraskans that the National Presbyterian Church in Washington, D.C., where the wedding of Miss Nancy Hardin, daughter of the University of Nebraska's former chancellor, Clifford M. Hardin, now Secretary of Agriculture, and Mrs. Hardin, and Douglas L. Rogers, son of Secretary of State and Mrs. William P. Rogers, will take place at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, is located at 4101-4125 Nebraska Ave. N.W.

The National Presbyterian Church is steeped in history. It had its beginnings in 1794 when a small group of Scottish stonemasons worshipped at a carpenters' shop on the White House grounds. Led by the Rev. John Breckenridge the group initially was called "St. Andrews", and later became the First Presbyterian Church in the District of Columbia. In 1930 the congregation merged with the Church of the Covenant and for 36 years worshipped at that church on the corner of Connecticut Ave. and N Streets, N.W.

It was in October of 1947 that the National Presbyterian Church was formally proclaimed, and in 1961 plans were made to create the National Presbyterian Church and Center, and in 1967, on his 77th birthday, Dwight David Eisenhower unveiled the cornerstone.

The church seats 1,250 persons, with a capacity for 90 in the choir.

The Chapel of the Presidents will seat 200, and 17 of the pews in the Chapel are those which were assigned to the Presidents of the United States who have worshipped with the congregation. The Presidents Pew is the oldest known pew to be used by Presidents Jackson, Polk, Pierce, Buchanan and Cleveland. Six of the Chapel's windows depict Presidents in the act of faith.

The Church altar of carved marble was made in Italy and weighs 16 and one-half pounds.

And the wedding music for Miss Hardin and Mr. Rogers, will be played on an organ that has 102 ranks and 5,820 pipes.

Following the ceremony at the church there is to be a wedding reception at Anderson House which also may claim considerable fame in the matter of history.

Anderson House, you see, is the national headquarters of The Society of the Cincinnati which came into being in 1783 at the close of the Revolutionary War, when General Knox, then at West Point, proposed a fraternal, patriotic organization of American officers, and also proposed that it be called the Cincinnati after Lucius Quinctius Cincinnatus, the hero of the 5th Century, B.C., who traditionally save Rome from 2,000 hostile invasions. The founders of the organization were commissioned officers of the American Army who, with their French Allies. had fought in the American Revolution. The Society's first president was George Washington, who held office until his death in 1799. Alexander Hamilton was the second President General.

Anderson House, however, though now the headquarters for The Society of the Cincinnati, was originally the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson who built the house in 1905. Mr. Anderson, a career diplomat, and the American Ambassador to Japan in 1912 and 1913, was a member of the Society for 43 years, and after his death in 1938, Mrs. Anderson presented the house, and many of its furnishings, to the Society.

The second floor is still furnished largely as it was in the years the house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Anderson (1905-1937). In the Drawing Room are 18h Century paintings, including examples of the work of Hoppner, Raeburn, and Reynolds. In the glittering French Salon are 17th Century Brussels tapestries. Other tapestries of the same period, French and Italian religious paintings, and numerous oriental art objects are displayed in the Long Gallery and in the State Dining Room.

The wedding reception will be held on the second floor where, at the top of the stairs is the Key Room, so called because of the pattern on the mosaic floor. The mural decorations were painted in 1909 by H. Siddons Mowbray.

Beyond the Key Room, a glittering French Salon adjoins an equally elegant but quieter Drawing Room. Both rooms are decorated in harmonious white and gold, in the style of the 18th Century. They are period rooms, representative of a now largely vanished mode of life in which formality and elegance were all important.

In atmosphere, the two rooms differ subtly from one another. The French Salon is gayer, while the Drawing Room is more serene.

In the French Salon are Brussels tapestries woven in or about 1600, with a design of pergolas on which are festoons of foliage touched by Autumn. These autumnal colors are repeated in the Aubusson tapestries covering the carved and gilded furniture of the period of the French Regency (1715-1723). The brilliance of the room is accentuated by the dark notes of the flower paintings set in the walls above the doors.

In the Drawing Room are paintings in a setting which they might originally have had. In this room is a portrait by Sir Peter Lely (1618-1680), who was the State Painter to King Charles II (1630-1685), and other portrait showing the fresh simplicity of the work of John Hoppner (1758-1810),. Here also is a portrait by Sir Henry Raeburn (1756-1823) of a Scottish beauty of the period.

Among the popular February brides-elect is Miss Mary Evelyn Hitch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Hitch Jr. of Tecumseh whose marriage to Roger Gail Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lewis of Utica, will be an event of Saturday, Feb. 7.

Miss Hitch was honored with a miscellaneous shower on Sunday, Jan. 18, when Mrs. Dennis Connel and Mrs. Robert Ide were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Connel at Utica.

Then on Monday, Jan. 19th, Miss Jean Roberts and Mrs. Galen Johnson of Dorchester entertained at the home of Miss Roberts for a kitchen shower for Miss Hitch. The guests met for a luncheon of pizzas and each guest also brought favorite recipes for the soon-to-be-bride.

Last Sunday, Jan. 25th Miss Hitch was the honored guest at another miscellaneous shower at the Gresham United Methodist Church. Hostesses at the prenuptial courtesy included Miss Marlene Schultze, Mrs. Ronald Schultze, Mrs. Richard Rolenc, Miss Joan Heidtbrink and Miss Connie Schultz.

Abby: take four-legged dog with you

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago Larry (not his name) and I were married. The plan was that I would work one year and then quit and start a family. Well, I've worked three years and Larry won't let me quit. He keeps buying things we can't afford and I have to work to keep up the payments.

Larry now says he doesn't want to be a father as kids get on his nerves. He does have an awful temper. Our dog got loose the other day and when Larry finally caught him, he threw him against the basement wall several times with all his might. It nearly broke my heart.

I'm an only child, Abby, and Larry takes me to visit my folks once a week for only one hour, and he keeps looking at his watch all the time we're there. I know my parents are hurt, but they don't say anything. My parents have a little money, and Larry curses them because they won't give us part of the money now that I will one day inherit.

I feel trapped. I know this marriage was a mistake, but I married Larry against the advice of so many people I feel determined to make a go of it. What advice can you give me?

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: What's "trapping" you? If you spend the rest of your life trying to prove that you were right and everyone else was wrong, knowing that YOU were wrong, you are foolish. Take the dog (the four-legged one) and clear out.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very fine person and I love him very much, but there is something that upsets me terribly, and I just can't seem to get him to listen to reason. His dentures!

He got them years ago when he couldn't afford anything better. Now his face has fallen in, and his dentures don't seem to fit his face. His teeth look so big and artificial, and they are grey and ugly. Also, there are two teeth missing on the side and it's very noticeable when he laughs and smiles.

Believe it or not, Abby, he is a professional man, who speaks before groups! We are very well off financially, now, and my husband could certainly afford the best in dentures, but for some unknown reason he is so sensitive about the subject, I don't dare bring it up for fear that he will fly off the handle.

Abby, he knows that I'm his best friend and I don't say anything to hurt him. If he only knew how much better looking he would be if he changed those dentures? Oh, Dear, I feel so helpless. Sign me,

"SILENT PARTNER"

DEAR "PARTNER": One's "best friend" is often the worst one to offer criticism of a personal nature. Ask someone else, whose judgment your husband respects, to wise up your darling. (P.S. Ill-fitting dentures are not only unattractive, they can cause serious complications to one's health later on.)

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	3 ♦	3 ♠	Dble

Opening lead — three of diamonds.

Here is an interesting hand where South made three spades doubled. You may not be enamored with his three spade bid, but South was greatly influenced by the part score of 40.

If you examine all four hands, it would seem that the contract should go down one, since South appears doomed to lose two spades, two diamonds and a club. But he made the contract, and, furthermore, he could not have been stopped by any method of defense.

West led a diamond. East cashed two high diamonds and shifted to a low club, covered by the queen, king and ace. Declarer now played a heart to his king and returned a low trump towards dummy.

West could not afford to rise with the ace, which would cost him one of his two natural trump tricks and automatically hand South the contract. So he followed with the ten and dummy won the trick with the queen.

Declarer thereupon cashed the A-Q of hearts, discarding a club, and continued with a heart which he ruffed, thus establishing dummy's fifth heart as a trick. He then played the jack of diamonds.

Again West was confronted with an unpleasant choice. He could ruff with the jack of spades, if he wanted to, but in that case dummy would discard the nine of clubs. Alternatively, West could discard a club, permitting declarer to ruff the diamond in dummy.

When West, after great thought, chose the latter course, declarer was able to discard his last club on the eight of hearts and thus make the contract. The only tricks South lost were two diamonds and two spades. The club loser vanished into thin air.

TIMBER LINES

Welcome Addition

Snowmobiles are slowly coming to the stage where they are a welcome addition to the hunter and fisherman's kit rather than a toy for snow enthusiasts to play with instead of skis.

The addition of a snowmobile as a part of the hunters' gear enables him to travel to otherwise inaccessable parts of the country where the snow has fallen so heavily that a dog sled, snowshoes or plane is needed to gain access.

It is a cheap and easy machine to operate and capable of toting the sportsman and pulling his gear on a sled behind at the same time.

The fisherman can now fish streams and lakes that are normally snowlocked that he couldn't before the addition of the snowmobile.

The snowmobile has made a hit in Canada and other northern parts of the North American continent but has yet to become popular in areas of the United States like Nebraska.

Not Necessary

"I suppose that the reason that the snowmobile hasn't made a hit among hunters and fishermen is that there is really no sense in having one in Nebraska since you can get close enough to the lakes by simply using a car," said Russ Bradshaw of rural Lincoln.

"A guy can still reach the good fishing places without exerting himself much by using his car so why should he go to the expense of buying a snowmobile?"

Even though Nebraska has roads to most places, in the more sparsely populated sections of the state such as the Sandhills the snowmobile is still useful in reaching some of the lakes.

Nine-Mile-Creek near Scottsbluff can be fished throughout its entire length if a snowmobile is used but only parts of it can be reached during some months of the winter unless the fisherman uses a jeep with a winch.

Then the snowmobile is not confined to just fishing and hunting or trapping but can be used by a family for an enjoyable outing or the snowmobiler can take part in several winter carnivals around the country in the races or just cross-country rides.

However, caution must still be observed even if one is only riding for fun. Permission must be granted by landowners before you can ride across their land and in some national parks and forests, a special permit must be obtained from park rangers or forest service headquarters.

Sportsmen snowmobiling in parks and forests have caused several problems for rangers by running down hunger-weakened deer and other animals under the guise of sport or to simply take pictures of the animals in their natural habitat.

Consequently, several of the nation's forests that would provide good snowmobiling are now off-limits to snowmobiles other than those used by the rangers themselves.

During the first sanctioned hunting trials at Pawnee Lake Sunday, Bud Malcolm of Lincoln and his partner both missed a bird during the open part of the trial.

Protest Mounts In Aftermath Of Visa Refusal

. . . ASHE CASE COULD LEAD TO FURTHER REPERCUSSIONS

Cape Town, South Africa (AP) — Arthur Ashe, American Negro tennis star, was refused Wednesday a visa to compete in South Africa, triggering a new wave of protest against the country's racial policies that likely will lead to further isolation in international sports.

Already banned from the Olympic Games and six other international sports, South Africa's refusal to issue a visa so Ashe could compete in the South African Open Tennis Championships in March could result in the country's expulsion from Davis Cup tennis competition.

Opinion against South Africa's ruling in the Ashe case marshaled quickly after the announcement. The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association issued a statement in New York citing "a clear case of racial discrimination" and calling for South African suspension from international tennis.

At the same time the specter of deteriorating relations with the U.S. government rose over the ban. The U.S. State Department had involved itself in the case by giving support to Ashe's visa application through Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Sportsmen throughout South Africa expressed fear that the visa refusal will not only lead to South Africa's expulsion from Davis Cup competition but will rebound into other sports, giving added impetus to the campaign to drive race-segregated South Africa out of world sport.

Race segregation laws in South Africa, which forbid whites and nonwhites to compete together, have caused the country to be banned from the Olympic Games and six international sports — soccer, table tennis, amateur boxing, fencing, judo and weightlifting.

Antiapartheid movements are demanding that a South African cricket tour of England and a New Zeland rugby tour of South Africa be canceled.

And South Africa's most widely known athlete, golfer Gary Player, who was subjected to antiapartheid demonstrations while playing in the PGA Golf Tournament last year, has admitted that banning Ashe could cut the country off from world sport.

"The Arthur Ashe case," he said, "could be the last straw to make our isolation in the field of sport complete."

The decision to refuse Ashe a visa was announced by Sports Minister Frank Waring. He said the government ban was on Ashe as an individual, not as a member of a team, and came as a result of "his general antagonism toward South Africa."

Waring said Ashe's application for a visa was, in Ashe's own words, an attempt "to put a crack in the racist wall down there" and not just for the purpose of playing tennis.

Player took frank exception to that when he was asked for comment in Johannesburg.

"I am very disappointed indeed at the decision," he said.

"People I have met who know Ashe insist he only wanted to come here to play tennis."

Ashe, who has spoken out strongly against apartheid, had promised to make no statements about anything except tennis for three or four weeks after the championships

Sal Muratella, a first-year heavyweight, disposed of defending champion Dom Polifrome Wednesday night and will take on another 1969 champion in tonight's heavyweight finals of the Southeast District Golden Gloves at Pershing Auditorium.

Muratella caught Polifrome, coming in, with a right hand that dropped the NAIA football all-American from the University of Nebraska at Omaha in the second round and he went from there to win the decision.

Muratella's opponent in tonight's heavyweight title bout will be Gene Trouba of Fairbury, the 1969 king at 178 pounds who moved up to the heavyweight class this year and decisioned Ron Williamsen of Lincoln Roberts in the Wednesday night semifinals.

Muratella, a 204-pounder, decisioned Trouba in a Fairbury smoker three weeks ago, one of his three decisions this year. Muratella's only loss was by decision to Lonnie Rutt of Hastings in a smoker in that city two weeks ago.

Trouba and Polifrome were the only 1969 champions in this year's field and both wound up in the heavyweight division where the newcomer Muratella waited.

Two former champions gained byes into tonight's finals with Bill Edwards of Fairbury slated to go after another 147-pound title tonight against Fred Orduna of Lincoln Aamco and Randy Nelson of Lincoln Sayler going after the 165-pound title against Jim Waters of Fairbury.

Another former champion, Eddie Phillips, bidding for a fifth trip to the Midwest Golden Gloves in Omaha, this time as a 139-pounder, was decisioned by Stan Lemaster of Lincoln Straight Edge.

Two Orta brothers will be bidding for championships tonight with Bob at 112 and Tina at 119.

Bob, the former state high school wrestling champion for Lincoln High, made his first fight with gloves a winning one Wednesday night, knocking unbeaten Jerry Westoff of Fairbury down in the first round en route to a decision victory.

Tina did not fight Wednesday night with only two fighters entered at 119 pounds.

The 156-pound championship bout will be a rematch of the last Lincoln smoker with Dan Griffin of Fairbury going after a repeat win over Rich Olson of Aamco. Griffin KO'd Olson in their last meeting and the 16-year-old Fairbury High School student is undefeated in four bouts this season, winning three of them by knockouts.

Olson scored one of two TKO's recorded Wednesday night, stopping Dan Aker of Fairbury in 1:54 of the second round. The other TKO was scored by Mike Wilcox of Aamco over Bob Way of Sayler in 1:55 of the third round of their 139-pound bout.

The battle for the team title shapes up as a tight three-way struggle among Aamco, Sayler and Fairbury with Aamco and Fairbury each having seven fighters remaining and Sayler with six.

A 14-bout card is on tap tonight, getting under way at 8 p.m. at Pershing Auditorium.

The results:

112—Bob Orta, Sayler, dec. Jerry Westoff, Fairbury.
125—Rick Couch, Aamco, dec. Stan Fentress, Fairbury.
132—John Kreifels, Straight Edge, dec. Doug Emery, Aamco; Ron Whitebear, Aamco, dec. Mitch Lowe, Aamco.

Cronin Recesses Group; Future Still Undecided

. . . CARLSON ENCOURAGED WITH REPORT

Berkeley, Calif. (AP) — American League owners Wednesday gave Seattle interests nine more days to come up with the financing needed to keep the Pilots baseball club in Seattle.

The League then recessed its meeting until Feb. 6, at which time, said league presiden Joe Cronin, it hopes to be able to decide the future of the troubled franchise.

At two days of closed sessions in a Berkeley resort hotel, groups from Dallas-Fort Worth and Milwaukee had stood by, hoping to make presentations that would bring the one-year-old team to their areas. Neither got to appear.

Cronin said, "The Seattle group indicated they were preparing the financial structure for a continuation of baseball in Seattle, and we have notified them we have recessed until a later date when they can inform us of the franchise conditions."

The Seattle group trying to buy the club is headed by hotel executive Edward Carlson. It was he who said the next meeting would be held Feb. 6 at a site yet to be determined.

"I would say this is encouraging," Carlson declared. "We've got to finalize the financial package."

Carlson added, "I think I can raise the money," and added of the general situation, "I think it has been eased."

Carlson is chairman of the board of Western International Hotels and a prime mover in attempting to keep the troubled franchise in Seattle.

Daley had indicated Tuesday that his organization was willing to sell for $9 million instead of the $10.3 million originally asked.

Carlson confirmed, however, that $5.5 million was needed almost immediately, and this was the stumbling block.

It includes $3.5 million to pay off a bank loan that becomes due as soon as the club is sold, and $2 million to operate during the 1970 season.

"That's the money we've got to structure in a satisfactory way for the league and the Seattle Pilots," said Carlson.

He indicated that the bank, whose refusal to extend the loan has brought the situation to its present crisis proportions, might be willing to reconsider.

"The bank said, 'Bring us a proposal,' " Carlson reported.

He also said that Daley was likely to remain with the club as a partner.

Carlson also said a community ownership plan to run the club as a nonprofit organization, unique in major league baseball, was still under consideration.

This was the plan presented to the owners Tuesday by a group composed of Carlson and Seattle and Washington state officials.

Cronin had said the proposal had been received without enthusiasm by the owners, but admitted that it is still "part of the package, but it is not the package."

The Dallas delegation, led by Lamar Hunt and Tommy Mercer, said it was still prepared to offer the Pilots a home in 1970, and the Milwaukee group led by Allen Selig said the same.

Beechner Named Athletic Director

Scottsbluff (AP) — Dick Beechner, head football coach at Hiram Scott College, has been appointed to serve also as athletic director.

College president Robert Sandberg named Beechner Tuesday to succeed Forddy Anderson, who has held the athletic directorship the past four years. Anderson resigned from the athletic directorship two weeks ago but remains as basketball coach.

CU Press Shuts Off Oklahoma

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Colorado threw a full-court press at Oklahoma Wednesday night to race to a 28-8 early lead and went on to defeat the Sooners, 104-78, in Big Eight basketball action.

All Buffalo starters scored in the initial flurry to help Colorado to a 55-36 lead at intermission. Oklahoma got no closer than 17 points in the second half after committing 17 turnovers in the face of the first-half press.

Cliff Meeley led both clubs with 31 points and 19 rebounds to pace the Colorado win. Oklahoma's Garfield Heard countered with 19 points and 14 rebounds.

Meeley got help from the other CU starters with Gordon Tope hitting 17, Dudley Mitchell 15, Jim Creighton 11 and Mike Coleman 10.

The only Sooner to join Heard in double figures was Scott Martin, who collected 14 points before fouling out in the fourth period.

Pro Football Draft Continues; Davenport, Otis Picked

New York (AP) — The 26 pro football clubs continued to sift through the college ranks in the second and final day of the annual draft Wednesday and came up with the likes of Willie Davenport, the Olympic hurdle champion, Jim Otis, Ohio State's All-American fullback and Ed Bell, the nation's leading pass catcher from Idaho State.

The pros ran off seven rounds Tuesday and then rip-ped into the 10 remaining rounds of the annual draft of 442 collegians in 17 rounds.

Most of the big names from the All American and even the Little All American ranks were grabbed in the first day. In fact, a Little All American quarterback, Terry Bradshaw of Louisiana Tech, was the No. 1 pick in the nation.

Davenport, who won the 110-meter hurdles in the Olympics at Mexico in 1968 and has played cornerback for Southern University, was picked by the New Orleans Saints in the 12th round. The star hurdler had been selected by Houston and later by San Diego a year ago but the choices were nullified because he still had college eligibility.

Otis, the 6-foot-214 pound fullback of the Ohio State team that was No. 1 during most of the season, was taken in the ninth round by the New Orleans club. The man who was 12th in the NCAA major college division in rushing with 1027 yards and ninth in scoring with 96 points was No. 218 in the overall draft.

The New York Jets, who already have George Sauer and Don Maynard, drafted Bell, the Idaho State pass catcher who led the NCAA college division with 96 receptions for 1,522 yards and 20 touchdowns. Bell, 5-9 and 165, was picked in the ninth round.

Zenon Andrusyshyn, a soccer-style placekicker from UCLA, who reportedly has kicked 65-yard field goals in practice, was drafted in the ninth by Dallas, the club that used to run an annual kicking caravan in search of a placekicker.

Larry Brewer, a 6-3 tight end who was one of Bradshaw's receivers at Louisiana Tech, was picked by Atlanta in the eighth round.

The 21-year-old Saul Twins who played for Michigan State will be spearated in the pro ranks. Ron, a highly-regarded guard, was grabbed by Houston in the fifth round. Rich, the linebacker, lasted until the eighth round when the Los Angeles Rams picked him.

Smaller Jack, But Still Big Threat In San Diego Open

. . . HOLDS HOT HAND ON TOUR

San Diego, Calif. (AP) — It is Jack Nicklaus, slim and trim but casting a larger shadow than ever, against the field in the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open Golf Tournament.

The powerful Nicklaus, with the hottest hand in the game over recent months, is the defending champion in the 72-hole event that starts Thursday on the South Course of the Torrey Pines Golf Club.

"I've been playing pretty well the last few months," the big blond from Columbus, Ohio, said Wednesday.

The fact is he has the best record of anyone on the tour in the last few tournaments. In his last five starts he has two firsts, two seconds and a sixth and has won $82,916.

Nicklaus, who shed some 20 pounds late last year and now weighs about 190, charged home with a final round 65 last week and finished second by a stroke to Bert Yancey in the Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach.

The $14,300 check he picked up there pushed his career earnings just over the $1 million mark, making him only the third player to reach that figure.

Arnold Palmer, who is skipping this tournament, and Billy Casper, expected to be one of Nicklaus' chief competitors for the $30,000 first prize here, are the others.

American Netters Suffer Reverses In Aussie Meet

Auckland, New Zealand (AP) — American players fared poorly Wednesday in the Benson and Hedges Open tennis tournament.

Britain's Roger Taylor finished off the rout by trouncing Lenny Schloss of Baltimore in the second round, 6-0, 6-4, 6-2.

Earlier, Richard Hawkes of New Zealand caught Donald Dell of Washington D.C. off his game and beat the former Davis Cup captain 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-0 in the opening round. Phillip Dent of Australia topped Ken Stuart of Seal Beach, Calif., 6-3, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2 in another opening round match.

Dell arrived here only an hour before his match and obviously was not playing his best. But Hawkes was in top form. He ran hard and unleashed powerful serves and volleys.

Bill Tym of Fort Myers Beach, Fla., defaulted during his first round match against Australia's Ray Ruffels because of a knee injury which has troubled him thoughout the New Zealand tour. Each player had won a set when Tym defaulted.

Pats To Get Use Of Field At Harvard?

Boston (AP) — A legislative committee gave near-unanimous approval Wednesday to a bill that would allow the state to take Harvard Stadium by eminent domain.

The Committee on Federal Financial Assistance had only one dissenter.

Seizure of the stadium by the state would pave the way to retain the Boston Patriots football team whose officials say they must have a 50,000 seat stadium by March 15 or they will move elsewhere.

The controversial bill goes to the House Ways and Means Committee before it can go to the floor of the House for debate.

Minor Leagues In Better Shape Than In Past Years

. . . ATTENDANCE, NUMBER OF TEAMS UP

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — A suggestion that minor league baseball has fallen on hard times brings a piercing look from gentle Phil Piton's eyes.

"For years we've been trying to refute the notion the minors are dying," said Piton Wednesday. He has been president of the major leagues' vast farm system for seven years.

"I think it was a password thing that we limped along from year to year," he continued, "it's not true."

The minor leagues have enlarged from a modern day low of 18 leagues and 130 teams in 1963 to 21 leagues and 161 clubs in 1970.

Attendance was under 10 million in 1963, the year Piton, a 40-year baseball man who spent 15 seasons under the late commissioner, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Land, took over. Last summer 155 teams in 21 leagues drew nearly 10.2 million.

Major league expansion and individual club promotions are the main factors behind the upswing.

Expansion to 24 major league cities has helped, but Piton hopes it's over.

"They've all got to have farm teams and it's enabled us to put baseball back in some cities," he said.

"We can plan on not losing any big cities to the majors."

Piton said the best club promotions are pony night, where some child is given a pony, and scholarship night, with the team awardisg a college grant to a student in attendance.

The minors, according to Piton, have learned to live with television.

"We hope individual clubs will respect our wishes and not televise," he said. "We can't do much about the network game of the week. Besides, the majors need that revenue to give us support."

Major league clubs either own the minor teams or have player development contracts with them.

Under development contracts, they stock players and pay part of their salaries, furnish a paid manager and pick up the team's spring training expense.

"The majors are very cooperative. They realize the importance of the minors," Piton said, in drawing a comparison.

"If the high schools were threatened with closing their doors, I am sure colleges would become interested."

An end to the Vietnam war would help, Piton said.

"We would have a lot more young talent available," he said.

"We have five or six areas now which want to form entire leagues, if they can get major league affiliation."

Piton's optimism is well-founded. Nine new teams, including Wichita, Kan., Evansville, Ind., and Mexico's Saltiello and Merida in Class AAA, come in 1970, offsetting the loss of franchises at Red Springs, N.C., Thomasville, N.C. and Salt Lake City.

Road Trip Crucial

. . . NU TO INVADE OKLAHOMA

"It's back-to-the-wall road series!"

That's the way Nebraska basketball coach Joe Cipriano sums up the Husker jaunt to Oklahoma at Norman Saturday night, then jumps to Stillwater for a Monday date with the Oklahoma State Cowboys, upsetters of Colorado at Boulder last week.

"Colorado's loss at home to Oklahoma State shows that some teams are going to lose at home more than we expected," Cipriano said. "The league is really balanced and the champion is going to have several losses. Since we've already got a couple, we don't want any more, so this trip to Oklahoma is a key one. If we could come out of there with a couple of wins, we'd be in good shape."

Cipriano is still awaiting the midterm grades which could topple a couple of players off the roster. Any scholastic casualties won't be known until the start of the second semester.

The Husker coach indicated unpredictable Tom Scantlebury has earned a starting job with is fine practice play this week.

Sprinter Carlos Tabbed In Pro Draft By Eagles

New York (AP) — John Carlos, the controversial sprinter from San Jose State who stirred a black power controversy at the Mexico City Olympics, was selected by the Philadelphia Eagles Wednesday as the 26 pro football clubs continued to sift through the college ranks in search of talent at their annual draft.

Carlos, Olympic hurdle champion Willie Davenport, Ohio State fullback Jim Otis and Ed Bell, the nation's leading pass-catcher from Idaho State, went on the second day of the selection meeting as the pros ripped into the 10 remaining rounds of the draft of 442 collegians.

Carlos, a sprinter from San Jose State who finished third in the 200-meter run at the Olympics and then lifted a blackgloved hand in a black power salute at the medal-awards ceremony, was drafted by the Eagles on the 15th round.

The club said Carlos, who last played football in high school, would be tried as a wide receiver.

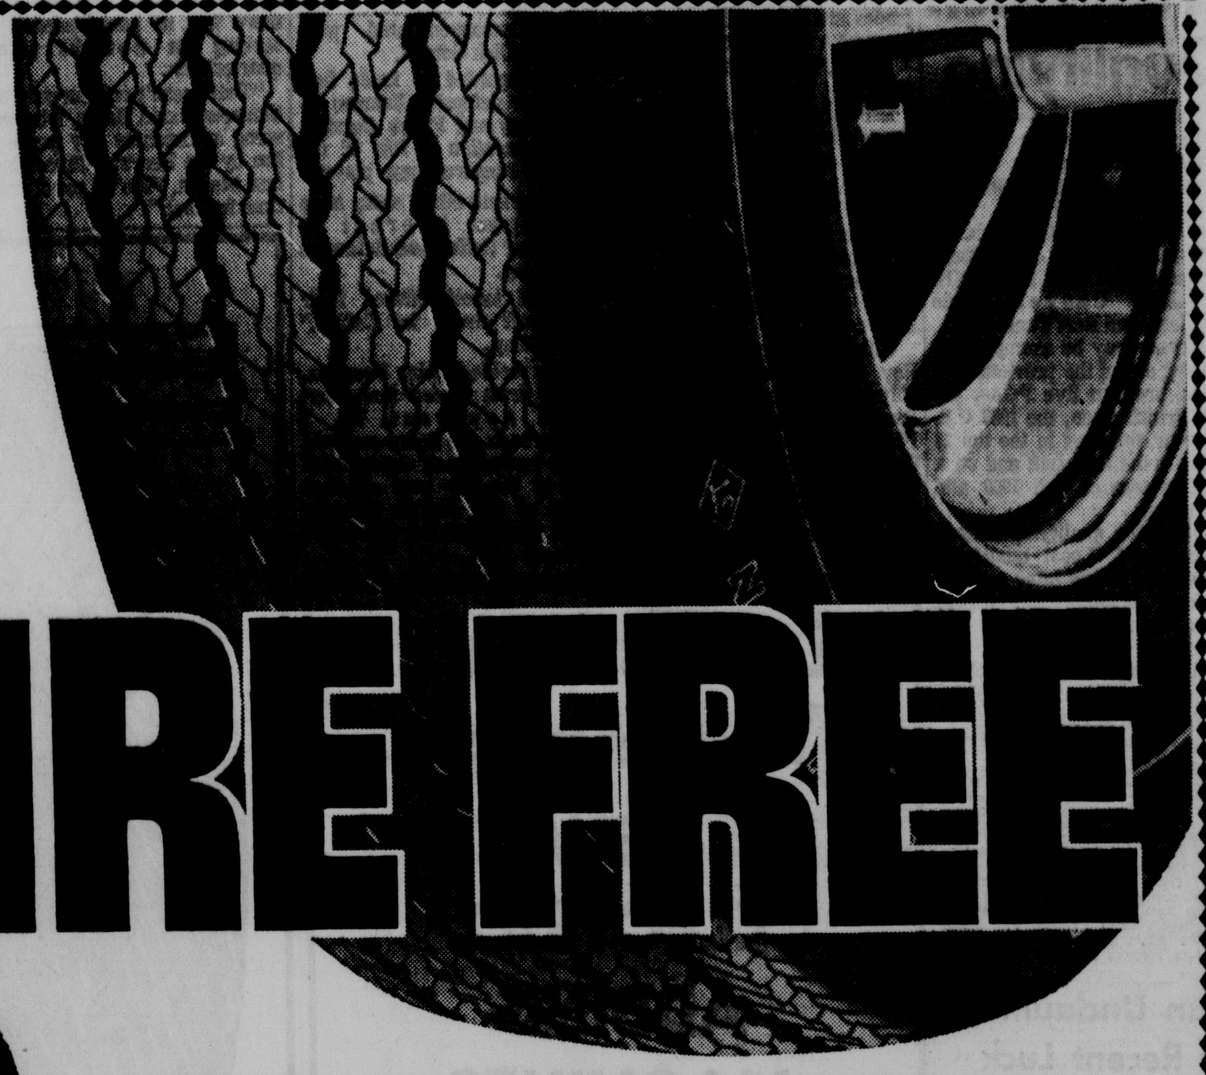

Most of the big names from the All American and even the Little All American ranks were grabbed in the first day. In fact, a Little All American quarterback, Terry Bradshaw of Louisiana Tech, waus the No. 1 pick in the nation.

Davenport, who won the 110-meter hurdles in the Olympics at Mexico in 1968 and has played cornerback for Southern University, was picked by the New Orleans Saints in the 12th round.

Otis, the 6-foot-214 pound fullback of the Ohio State team that was No. 1 during most of the season, was taken in the ninth round by the New Orleans club.

The New York Jets, who already have George Sauer and Don Maynard, drafted Bell, the Idaho State pass catcher who led the NCAA college division with 96 receptions

Bear Office Claims Further Trades Necessary For Rebuilding Efforts

. . . BUTKUS, SAYERS ONLY SQUAD UNTOUCHABLES

Chicago (AP) — The Chicago Bears corraled no fewer than seven experienced players mainly in swaps for their first two draft choices. And instant rebuilding is far from finished by last season's National Football League doormat club.

While other clubs are sifting the college ranks for future talent in the current player draft in New York, the Bears obviously are scoring the waiting game.

Coach Jim Dooley said in Philadelphia, where the Bears and other pro colleagues are calling draft shots, that more trades are coming for such fixtures as a veteran quarterback, a wide receiver and a tight end.

The only untouchables in the Bears' biggest reshuffling in history are super stars Gale Sayers and Dick Butkus, according to Dooley.

"Other clubs are interested in our defensive people and we may have to trade some to improve our offense," said the Bear coach.

With such newcomers as Lee Roy Caffey, Bob Hyland and Elijah Pitts from the Green Bay Packers; Craig Baynham and Phil Clark from the Dallas Cowboys, and Bill Staley and Harry Gunner from the Cincinnati Bengals, something has to give on tthe Bears' holdover roster.

For instance, Pitts and Baynham now give the Bears eight running backs, also including Sayers, Mike Hull, Ross Montgomery, Ron Bull, Brian Piccolo, and Ralph Kurek.

"We generally carry five or six," said Dooley.

So figure two or three ballcarriers must go on the trade mart, along with perhaps such unhappy Bears as quarterbacks Virgil Carter and Jack Concannon and wide receiver Dick Gordon.

Also regarded as trade bait are such defensive linemen as Dick Evey and Frank Cornish, not to mention a few of the recently acquired new players.

Dooley said other clubs have shown great interest in linebacker Caffey and defensive end Staley.

"Some teams offered their first draft choice for Caffey," said Dooley.

With rookie Bobby Douglass, No. 2 draft choice last year, tabbed apparent No. 1 quarterback, the Bears are said to be eyeing such experienced help at the key post as Jack Kemp of the Buffalo Bills or Gary Cuozzo of the Minnesota Vikings.

All the Bears' wheeling and dealing has been certified by George Halas, club owner, from his bed in a hospital where the 74-year-old NFL pioneer is recovering from a gall bladder operation.

"They don't do anything without clearing it here," said Papa Bear.

Satisfied the seven new players "all have sound, winning backgrounds," Halas said there was no haste needed in seeking an established quarterback.

"That doesn't call for any action now," said Halas, who was stung as much as any partisan fan by the Bears' 1-13 collapse last season. "We've got a little time for that."

Veteran Scout Dies At Age 73

Lakeside, Calif. (AP) — Herb Benninghoven, a veteran scout for major league baseball teams, died of a heart attack while playing golf Tuesday. He was 73.

He once said he missed signing Ted Willimas out of high school when the St. Louis Cardinals refused an extra $1,000 which Williams demanded.

Porsche Cars Head Field In Endurance Trial Runs

. . . FAST EFFORTS PREDICTED AT DAYTONA

Daytona Beach, Fla. (AP) — Porsche Prototypes driven by Jo Siffert of Switzerland and Vic Elford of England turned the fastest unofficial laps Wednesday as practice opened for this weekend's Daytona 24-hour endurance race.

Siffert, driving an unmarked 5-liter 917 model, turned the 3.81-mile Daytona track and road course at 126.531 miles per hour — more than 4 m.p.h. faster than the official course record.

Elford, at the wheel of the No. 3 Porsche he will handle in America's longest and most demanding race starting at 3 p.m. Saturday, was clocked on one lap at 122.573 m.p.h.

The times were unofficial because official qualifying runs do not begin until Friday morning. All speeds until then will serve only to indicate that this should be the fastest field in the race's five-year history.

A Corvette Sting Ray driven by Or Constanzo of Tampa was the first car on the track after it opened at 2 p.m. Daytona Beach mayor Richard King cut a ribbon officially inaugurating a month of auto racing at the multi-million dollar Daytona International Speedway.

The flags of 10 nations, representing the entry list from around the world, flew in a slight breeze and 75 degree temperatures as the cars lined up on pit road.

Another practice session was scheduled Wednesday night, with two more on tap Thursday.

The starting grid will be set in qualifying Friday.

All of the Works Porsche 917s got in some trial runs, as did four of the Ferrari 512s. Mario Andretti, the U.S. driving champion, had the best unofficial lap in a Ferrari, 122.028 m.p.h. Elford set the official course mark of 122.246 last year.

Ferraris driven by Nino Vacarello of Italy of Jackie Ickx of Belgium were clocked in the 115-117 m.p.h. bracket, as was a Porsche 917 assigned to Pedro Rodriquez of Mexico.

The two-car Matra team from France made a brief appearance, but no times or speeds were posted for either.

Man Undaunted By Recent Luck In Soccer Pool

Rochester, England (AP) — Owen Phyall, 63-year-old store salesman, won $169,276 on the soccer pools Wednesday and said he wasn't surprised.

"A few days ago my newspaper horoscope said I was going to have a windfall," Phyall said.

He's been filling in the pools coupons for 35 years and never previously won more than 96 cents.

Phyall picked a winning line of drawn games. It cost him one cent, but he's been making 60 cents worth of bets each week for years.

"I shall buy a house," Phyall said. "I shall give something to my family and a few close friends. But I shall go on working until I'm 65, as I would have done anyway."

Stock Market Rally Fizzles

New York (AP) — The stock market closed weaker Wednesday after a morning rally stalled for lack of investor buying incentive.

"There is no willingness upon the part of the investor to commit funds for what even appears to be bargains," commented Monte Gordon, Bache & Co. research director.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials slid 5.15 to 758.84, after being up over a point in earlier trading. The closing mark represents the lowest level of the average since Oct. 11, 1966, when the market finished at 753.63.

The New York Stock Exchange closing index of 1,200 common stocks lost 0.45 to 48.59, the lowest reading since 48.50 on April 10, 1967.

Trading tempo picked up, with 10.51 million shares turned over, up from Tuesday's volume of 9.63 million shares.

Declines outpaced advances by 876 to 414, as 283 of the 1,573 issues trades were unchanged.

A total of 154 stocks — 10 more than Tuesday — reacher new 1969-1970 lows, while 8 issues — 3 more than in the previous session — hit new yearly highs.

The Standard & Poor's 500-stock index lost .83 to 86.79, its lowest level since Feb. 28, 1967 when the reading was 86.78.

Closing on the high side were farm implements, aircrafts, and rails, while motors, electronics, utilities, metals, oils, airlines, tobaccos, and drugs were mostly lower. Steels, rubber issues, chemicals, and building materials were mixed.

The Associated Press 60-stock average fell .8 to 261.9, with industrials off 2.2, rails up .8, and utilities behind .09.

Topping the Big Board's active list was Jim Walter Corp., off 1 to 23¾, on a volume of 219,500 shares, including the largest block of the session — 188,900 shares. The issue was one of 16 of the 20 most-active issues closing on the decline, 3 advanced, and 1 was unchanged.

American Telephone, trading at its lowest range since 1960, fell to a new 1969-70 closing low at 46⅝, off 1¼.

Slaughter Prices Up At Omaha

Trade at Omaha was fairly brisk, although forced, as some 4,500 cattle sought outlet, with best buyer inquiry still centering on lighter weight cattle relatively free of mud. Prices turned steady to 25 cents higher.

The high flying cow market appeared to be on shaky ground as the buying side began to tighten up. Early trade was fully steady at the advance, but by late afternoon some losses had been taken as sellers sought to clear available supplies before the week end.

Locally, steer top edged up to 29.25 for a load of choice to prime 1,170 lb. weights.

Best heifers 28.75 for choice to prime 1,006 lb. load choice in bulk down to 27.00.

Bulk 190-240 lb. barrows and gilts 27.50-28.00. Sows bunched at 23.00-24.60.

Limited supplies fat lambs 50-75 cents or more lower. Toppy No. 1 pelts drew 29.00-29.50. Best woolskins 29.00.

Soybean Futures Prices Are Lower

Chicago (AP) — Soybeans futures advanced around ¾ of a cent a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday, then came under profit taking and speculative liquidation that sent prices nearly 1 cent under the previous close.

Wheat and corn futures, which had advanced along with soybeans, also came under late selling pressure. Trade showed some improvement over the previous session, but still lacked a strong public interest.

A government report estimating a 10% increase in wheat exports to 600 million bushels this year as well as higher prices for wheat influenced buying of wheat futures. But nearly 1 cent above the previous close, prices hit resistance and a fraction was trimmed off the high near the close. Rye was mostly lower in very light trade.

At the close, wheat was ⅜ to ⅝ cents a bushel higher, March 1.43⅜; corn was ⅛ to ½ higher, March 1.20½; oats were ⅜ to ½ higher, March 61¾; rye was ¼ to ⅝ lower, March 1.18; and soybeans were unchanged to ⅞ lower, March 2.53¾.

But- DEAF INITELY
by
C. W. Strom
Certified Hearing Aid Audiologist

Many, many people (millions) are sometimes troubled by annoying "part time hearing loss"—in group conversations, meetings, theater, etc.
You owe it to yourself to have your hearing tested to determine if you are not hearing normally, and if something can be done medically or acoustically.
If you should have some nerve defect, sensori-natural loss, present surgical techniques will not usually help. However, many have been helped greatly by the use of the new miniature transistor in the new miniature transistor instruments by MAICO.
I have a booklet which will be mailed in a plain envelope to you free, which answers in plain language all questions about the common but little understood problem. Write me at 713 Sharp Bldg. in Lincoln for this booklet. Phone 432-1967.

The fireplace made of imported stone is only one of the few luxuries that will greet your eyes when you step into this immaculate four bedroom, three bath home. Priced in the mid 40's and well worth the asking sum. Everything is carpeted and has both formal and informal dining. Mary can give you the particulars on this.

Attached garage, central air, full finished basement, can be yours with immediate possession date and priced under $19,000. Call for Linda, she will tell you about it.

ZONING?

There is no doubt about this business zoned property as it has two large warehouses with over 600 square foot of office space. A large frontage on North 27th and is presently used as a warehouse. Dick has the listing on this one, give him a ring.

LOW PAYMENTS

You won't believe how cheap you can live in this two bedroom frame located near 24th and R. Priced at $4500 and would make an excellent rental. Dianne will be pleased to help you with this one.
